Anyone Want a Grey Elephant? Old Miss Fine's Gym May Be One

What's going to happen to the big, gymnasium-theatre behind Borough Hall? The building that Mayor Robert W. Cawley refers to ruefully as "not exactly a white elephant, but a kind of grey elephant."

The cinder-block structure was built as a gym-theatre for the former Miss Fine's School. When the School was torn down in the mid-1960s to make way for the present Borough Hall, everybody decided the far-sighted and prudent thing to do was to leave the gym standing.

It was a relatively new post-World War II building, it had that stage as well as a gymnasium floor, it was centrally-located and think of all the community gatherings that could be held there!

Today, it looks as though the cost of making the building workable (just as a start, it has neither heat nor plumbing), is so high that it will remain an unused shell, "a grey elephant" for the indefinite future.

The Recreation Board wants the gym for a variety of programs, ranging from basketball games for the kids to bongo for grandpa. Architects say it will cost $50,000 just to make the building structurally safe again, plus $30,000 for plumbing and electrical work, plus $20,000 to install what the Recreation Board would need for its programs. Total: $100,000.

Recreation Board members laid these estimates and plans before a combined meeting of Borough Council and Township Committee on November 9. No decision has yet been announced. Mayor Cawley will say only that the future of the gym is "on ice" for the moment.

"Quite frankly, from our point of view, it was a disappointing meeting," says Sanford Reynolds of the Recreation Board. "The governing bodies were not overly enthusiastic about the cost."

(At that time, Mr. Reynolds was not a member of any governing body. Now, of course, he sits on Township Committee as Mayor John D. Wallace's appointee to replace James A. Floyd.)

"Both Borough and Township had already bought the concept of our using the gym for new programs," recalls Donald Barr, Recreation Director, "but I walked away from that meeting not very optimistic."

Richard J. Chordton, architect retained by the recreation Board, has estimated the building's worth at $250,000, exclusive of land. However, Mayor Cawley says the Borough had had two appraisals, one twice as high as the other. He thinks that, because the gym is not an income-producing structure, any estimate of its value is apt to be "artificial."

Mr. Chordton has been quoted as estimating the cost of replacing the gym at $350,000.

"When you subtract from that figure, the $100,000 cost of renovation, you get a community asset worth $250,000," comments Mr. Barr.

The building's look of cinder-block sturdiness is deceiving. Mr.

Remodel Present High School or Build New One?

Build a new Princeton High or renovate the one we've got? The question will be answered, perhaps by the end of the school year. The school board voted unanimously Tuesday night (William Marvel absent) to retain Taylor, Lieberfeld and Heldman, Inc. of New York at a $33,000 fee to make the engineering, architectural and education studies that will give the board detailed information on which to base a decision.

"At last we're getting in motion!" exclaimed board member Winthrop Pike at a Tuesday press conference. He was joined by Board President Robert Bierman, board member Hannah Fox and Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

No matter what route the board decides to follow, a bond issue will inevitably be required, Mr. Pike warned. If all goes speedily, Princeton residents may be voting on that bond issue as early as next October.

Board and superintendent have "an absolutely open mind," in Mr. Pike's words, on whether to build anew, or re-build what's there now. Dr. McPherson acknowledged that he had once preferred a new building, but now felt that he wanted to see data first before making up his mind.

Studies Will Be Crucial. Board members hope, through the survey, to get better cost-data than they have ever had before. Engineering studies, which must be made in detail, will be crucial, it was emphasized.

Consultants will scrutinize the Valley Road building, as well as the high school, to see whether it could be used as an interim high school while construction is in progress.

The firm, whose Princeton project director will be Lawrence Lieberfeld, is one that specializes in studies like these for school systems. Dr. McPherson explained. Its members are architects, educators, engineers, planners.

For the first 60 days, they will work within Princeton High, talking with staff, examining closely the operation of the high school as it exists today.

Engineers will poke and probe, exploring the physical plant, interviewing key people in the school and studying the latest available structural, mechanical and electrical plans of each floor.

Voice of the People. Eventually, Dr. McPherson said, the consultants will go out into the community and Dr. Bierman emphasized that the specialists will examine population shifts, talk to people about what Princeton wants in the way of education, and review the Long Range planning report.

They will not consider new sites for any new high school, board members said.

"Overcrowding" has been the pivotal word in any discussion of Princeton High. The old, inconvenient building has, in Dr. McPherson's view, been part of the problem in current social tensions.

The structure contains 1,700 students. About 500 will leave when the West Windsor-

This Is Princeton

Plainsboro high school is completed.

Completed in 1928-29, (at a cost of less than $1 million!), Princeton High was built to accommodate 1,500. An addition enlarged the school in 1955.

Problems?
• "It's hard to find a vacant classroom when a teacher has something special for a group of kids to do," Mr. Pike said.
• Guidance counselors are at one end of the building, the central office at another.
• The school cannot be cleaned when classes are in session.

• The girls' lockers are "scandalous."
• As an example of construction-repair difficulties, some piping has been laid in the rubble inside a poured concrete wall.

• "Educational shortcomings," cited by Mr. Pike, include a lack of flexibility, so that there is no classroom that will hold, say, 60 kids. The standard ones are built for 30.

What Can Be Done? "What we need," Mr. Pike said, "are answers on feasibility. Can this wall be removed? Will it really be cheaper to renovate or should we go the whole way with a new building?"

Interim reports will be given throughout winter and spring. By January 1, Mr. Lieberfeld expects to complete the field survey. A report on space requirements is due February 23; one on occupancy patterns March 15. Cost estimates will be presented on April 1, with a final report May 1.

This means that the board will be brought along as the work is in progress, so that the final decision will grow almost organically from what has been learned from the reports.

The $33,000 fee will be patched together from various sources. The board has $10,000 in a consultants' account.

Other accounts, like transportation for example, will be tapped for surplus funds.

When Taylor, Lieberfeld and Heldman have finished, the board will turn to another firm for its architect. Dr. Bierman explained. The board wanted a consultant from outside Princeton, but has assured local architects that one of them could be hired to do the final job.

Theft? Commenting on an advertisement in the November 16 TOWN TOPICS, placed by the Parents of Princeton Children, Board president Robert Bierman raised the question of "stealing."

There were only ten copies of one memorandum used in the ad, he said. Nine of these went to the school board and one to Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

The superintendent duplicated his copy and passed it to Principal Patricia Wertheimer of Princeton High. She destroyed her copy after she read it. Dr. Bierman reported, because she knew it was only an interim proposal and would be discussed more fully later.

"Is there stealing, then?" Dr. Bierman asked. "At Stony Brook (the administration building)? Or from waste baskets? It looks as though this group is stealing information to provide inaccurate information to the public."

Source Unidentified. From the audience, Mrs. Margery Davison, 193 Harrison, a member of the Parents group, said she had found a copy of the memo in a brown envelope in her mailbox.

When Dr. McPherson asked where she obtained a copy relating to the appointment of five associate superintendents, which Dr. McPherson said was inaccurate, Mrs. Davison said she would not reply to the question in a public meeting.

The board voted 7-1, Dr. Bierman losing, to postpone action on a proposal to appoint program chairmen in various schools, at the recommendation of principals. These chairmen would receive more pay. The proposal is similar, Dr. Bierman pointed out, to differential staffing, a device for paying higher salaries to better teachers.

William Bux, president of the PREA teachers group, raised questions about the concept Philip Cobb, assistant principal of John Witherspoon School, said these teachers should be paid more for the additional work they are doing.

Seniors Ignore Tests. About 70 Princeton High seniors shrugged off the first series of state-wide tests given throughout New Jersey earlier this month and simply didn't take them at all.

"Some took only the first day, November 14, and didn't come back for math on the second day, November 16," explained Dr. Charles Huchst, director of Special Services.

Others who were absent didn't appear on the make-up day. The tests were given throughout the state to 12th graders and fourth graders. In Princeton 323 of 395 12th graders took the tests, and 292 of 300 fourth graders.

"Seniors had just finished in a consultants' account."

Township police report the entry last week of Rosedale Mills, 274 Alexander Street.

The only thing taken was about $9 in coins from a first floor cash register. The register had been pried open with a pair of tin cutting shears.

According to police, the intruder entered the property by climbing or crawling under the main gates. He entered the building by way of an unlocked door and then forced an inner cellar door. Sgt. Michael Konliner is investigating.

Late Report. In a late report Monday to Township Det. Samuel Bianco, Mrs. Lillian B. Tenney, 168 Hickory Court, reported that her house had been entered while she was vacationing in August. Mrs. Tenney said that a $100 watch, $41 in cash and $14 in silver dollars had been taken.

Candidate to Seek School Board Seat Independent of Factions

The race for school board seats got its first starter this week. Fred J. Bauer, 6 Littlebrook Road, announced that he will file for the Township's single seat.

That seat is now held by Robert Bierman, who declared this week that he will wait before deciding whether to run for a second three-year term. He had just about decided not to run again, he explained.

"But the ad in TOWN TOPICS placed by the Parents of Princeton Children soured my feelings," he said. "Such an irresponsible ad is no way for parents to act who are concerned for the good of the school system."

The school board needs, Dr. Bierman stated, "someone who appeals to a wider, broader section of the community, who at least in some degree has the broad interests of the whole community at heart."

The advertisement appeared in the November 16 issue.

Fred J. Bauer

Deadline for filing applications for the board is December 27.

Two vacancies in Borough. So far, no candidate has formally announced for the Borough's pair of seats. Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, former board member who was defeated for re-election last year, said this week that she will not run again. The two Borough incumbents up for re-election, Evelyn Geddes and Henry Powsner, declared last week that they will not run.

Mr. Bauer, a Princeton resident for 10 years, has a son in Princeton High School, a son in Littlebrook, a daughter who was graduated from the high school in June and a pre-school son. A graduate of Bowling Green State University, 1957, Mr. Bauer is a writer and also a contributing editor to Guideposts magazine.

He is the author of "EV: the Man and his Words" about the late Senator Everett M. Dirksen and "How Many Hills to Hillsboro?" about the Bauer family's crosscountry bicycle trip. He is currently writing a hiking book about the Appalachian Trail.

He has been active in Boy Scouting, Young Life, the Sierra Club and Appalachian Trail affairs and served as church moderator for three years for Christ Congregation Church.

"I do not want to be identified as a candidate who will side exclusively with either of the two school factions," he said in a statement. "I reject the idea that one must declare himself for or against Superintendent McPherson."

Citing the Princeton schools' immediate future of fewer students and fewer dollars, Mr. Bauer proposed evaluation of "where we are now and the ways in which we should go." He emphasizes "ways" because we live in a pluralistic society. It is imperative that we continue to offer students diverse learning opportunities.

Arthur Morgan voted "no," Robert Hendry supported Mr. Lombardo.

Council introduced a "clear packaging" ordinance, requiring merchants to wrap fresh or frozen meat or chicken in transparent wrappings, and prohibiting the practice of "layering" which consumer advocates say conceals less desirable cuts. Public hearing will be Tuesday, December 12.

Five appointments were made at the meeting. Charles Streeter and Raymond F. Mole were named to the Police Advisory Committee. Mr. Lombardo abstaining in the vote to approve Mr. Mole.

Mary Lee Dean of the athletic department at the University, was appointed to the Joint Recreation Board replacing John Conroy. Mrs. Kathleen Schenk and Mrs. Sidney Taggart were appointed to the Traffic Safety Committee.

Four-Way Stop. Council passed the ordinance making the Cleveland-Library intersection a four-way stop, but the action needs state approval. Administrator Robert F. Moon, warned that state action might not come for three weeks. Borough counsel Gordon Griffin told residents of the area that he opposes signs that aren't state-approved because people who disregard the signs cannot legally be fined.

Council also passed ordinances reducing legal truck weight from five to four tons on Vandeventer and several western section streets; converted 32 all-day meters in the Chambers Street lot to two-hour meters; placed nine two-hour meters on Mercer in front of Trinity Church, and lowered the legal age for volunteer firemen from 21 to 18. Young women will now be allowed to join.

Councilman Moore told Council of his "astonishment" at Township Committee for its decision to replace retired Committeeman James A. Floyd with Sanford Reynolds. Mr. Moore said he wanted to go on record as "denouncing" the appointment, and declared that no one in the black community should be allowed to join.

Old Gym a Problem

Chorlton found roof leaks, cracks in the wall, and a floor which may warp before long unless the building gets some heat. Repairing these deficiencies would come to $30,000, and repairs should be made as soon as possible, Mr. Chorlton warns.

Another $30,000 for plumbing and electrical work, would make the building usable for general purpose, like offices or for intermittent use.

The Recreation Board's plans would require $20,000 more. This money would go for hovers essential in a gym—a kitchenette which could be used for senior citizen festivities and an office for the gym's director.

Also, Mr. Barr points out, the $20,000 figure includes $10,000 for an extensive and sophisticated heating and ventilating system which would control air movement and noise. For $2,000, all windows on the north wall could be closed to reduce glare. The elements were included because the gym's neighbors on Boudinot Street have objected to recreational use of the building in part because of noise and glare.

Minimum Figure Asked whether the Recreation Board could live with a sealed drain gym, say, with $20,000 representing the cost of structural repair plus the installation of plumbing and electricity, Mr. Barr shakes his head.

"No, I don't think so. We want very much to have programs there for the elderly and they would need a kitchenette, and tables for cards, checkers, bingo and other games."

"The value of the building increases immensely when it's considered as a community center," he adds. "With that stage, you could have Street Theatre kids there, and other community drama groups. We don't see it as a gym for spectator games because there isn't enough room for bleachers. Not for tournaments games like ping pong, pool table and floor shuffleboard dances, it is a tremendous community asset."

Operating costs, recreation officials estimate, might be $29,500 a year. This would pay for a full-time director and $1,000 worth of half-time instructors, utilities, sports equipment, secretarial help, insurance and $2,500 for upkeep.

Neighbors Unhappy. If cost is one factor that seems to dilute the gym's strength as a community asset, neighborhood objectors are of course another.

Residents of Boudinot Street have been persistent and firm in their opposition. They do not want the gym used by the Recreation Board for recreation ranging from noise to traffic and parking.

They also point out that the gym is a non-conforming use (it's in a residential zone) which hasn't been operated for

Just You Wait!

Suppose the rain
Had all been snow?
Those drifts would put on
Quite a show.

November's record rainfall failed to produce the white stuff (we had that in October, remember?), but now the question becomes more pertinent: Will this year's trend toward abnormally high precipitation continue, giving us big snows?

Actually, the odds are against it, but December generally brings around 24 inches, just for openers. Meanwhile, partially sunny days appear to be in order, with temperatures continuing to average slightly below normal.

Over a year and may there fore be nothing to the matter but a zeroing laws.

At first, this sounded ominous, a though Boudinot Street residents might like the question to court. But Mayor Cawley concedes that a variance would be required for what the Recreation Board wants to do, and he says he's willing to red dress the area around them that public hearings will be held and the legal channels through the Zoning Board followed.

Mr. Barr himself has talked with people who live near the gym, and has also assured them of both individual and public talks about traffic parking and detailed Recreation Board plans.

Linked to use of the gym is the plan to swap the gymnasium for a piece of Community Park land on which the Princeton Nursery School might put up a new building although school trustees keep asking themselves how they could swap a gym they didn't actually HAVE.

Mayor Cawley says the commitment to give a snippet of Recreation Board land to the Nursery School will indeed be honored, regardless of the gym's final fate.

But... "They want us to make a concession to the Nursery School without getting anything in return," protests Recreation Board member William J. Armiger Jr. "It's tough for us, and it sets a precedent."

"That gym is of value," he continues. "If you want to maintain it, you've got to spend some money, and for what we could have used it for, it's a very reasonable price. These are programs the community has needed for years and we can provide them at a cost you'll never be able to match again."

Young people do use the gym even now, points out Mayor Cawley, chiefly for basketball. And this occasional sporadic use may, perhaps, be continued, he says.

The mayor, incidentally, is disturbed because the town has no place no community building where United Fund, or Red Cross or the Nursery School can do their thing—we really treat them terribly.

To let that property sit idle? Mr. Armiger concludes, is just not good economics.

Community had been considered as a replacement for Mr. Floyd.

Councilman Morgan, who is Police Commissioner, reported that a community relations seminar for Borough police was cancelled because only 13 officers signed up.

The twice-yearly seminar has formerly drawn so many applicants that the number had to be held to a 30-man maximum, Chief Michael Carnevale said. He added that in his view, police-community relations were a subject for constant, rather than twice-yearly attention, but he said that another seminar will be scheduled for next year.

Acting on the request of Councilman Moore, Council and audience observed a moment of silence in memory of the two students killed at Southern University.

NEW ROUTE SOUGHT

For Loop. A minor realignment of the proposed Loop Road Princeton will be up for public hearing next Tuesday when the Princeton Regional Planning Board holds its December meeting at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall.

The realignment is the result of court action brought against Princeton Township by Kahlan - Linker, who owns property on Province Line, in Lawrence Township. Originally, the Loop, in the Township's southwest quadrant, went west behind Edgerstone, linking to Province Line and thence to Rosedale.

Mr. Linker protested that he had not been given legal notice of the proposed route, and charged that there had been no co-ordination between Lawrence and Princeton Township Planning Boards. Judge Frank J. Kingfield of Superior Court ordered the parties to get together and work out a solution.

The new road takes the Loop off Province Line and aligns it almost parallel to the rear line of lots on Galbraith Drive West about 1,000 feet east of Province Line itself.

The board will also bring up to date the official Borough map, which dates to the 1950s, with some 1964 amendments. After the board has acted on Tuesday, the map will go to Borough Council for final action.

POLICE CHARGE TWO

In Accidental Shooting. The accidental shooting of a 12-year old Township youth in Aljon's Sub Shop, 157 Witherspoon Street, Sunday has resulted in police charges against an employee and the proprietor.

Borough police have charged Louis Dallenbach of Hightstown, the employee, with discharging a revolver in the Borough in violation of a Borough ordinance. Also charged was William Gardener of Freehold, the proprietor, with failure to obtain a pistol purchase permit. They are scheduled to appear in Borough Court on December 20.

According to police, Mr. Dallenbach was showing the youth the .22 caliber pistol inside the store when it accidentally went off. The bullet struck him in the left arm.

He was taken to Princeton Medical Center, treated and released. Police said the wound was not serious.

THREE MORE CAUGHT

Shoplifting at Bamberger's. Three more teenagers were caught and charged with shoplifting last week at Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

A 13-year-old Trenton youth was apprehended by Twp. Detective Frank Bocciafuso some 15 minutes after he fled the store on foot. He had allegedly taken a $55 jacket on Friday.

A 16-year old youth, also from Trenton, was apprehended by William Turek of the store's security department, after he allegedly took a $10 pair of trousers. A 17-year old Titusville resident was grabbed by Robert Harwood of the security department after he allegedly shoplifted a pair of trousers valued at $9. All three were later released to their parents, pending juvenile charges by Township juvenile officer Anthony Pinelli.

WARRANT IS ISSUED

For Mugging Suspect. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a 17-year-old Princeton juvenile with an unknown address who is a suspect in the mugging of a Somerville woman early this month on Witherspoon Street.

The victim was punched in the face and her attackers, believed to be two or three, escaped with her handbag containing $200. Her dentures were also broken during the attack.

police said.

The warrant was issued as the result of an investigation by Det. Tomothy Huzing.

ARE YOU OVER 21?

The Joint Commission on Aging is the sponsor. Sessions will be held at St. Paul's following all masses. They will be led by Martin P. Lombardo, chairman of the Commission, Mrs. Carolyn Edelemann and Miss Mary Perone.

Uncle Sam Offers Mailing Bags for Your Gifts

The Princeton Post Office has available a new colorful Christmas package in which to ship gift mailings.

Postmaster Basil Ferrara said padded mailing bags are available at all stations and branches at a price of 25 cents. The colorful bags measure 10 1/2 by 16 inches. In addition, the post office has two other size bags available: 5x10 inches, for 20 cents, and 14x20 inches for 30 cents.

The special red, white and green padded shipping bags picture a man and a woman on a sleigh ride. Each bag has an address space for sender and addressee and also offers "Seasons Greetings".

The flexible containers provide a one-stop service for mailing gifts. The sender brings his article to the post office, uses the bags for padded protection and mails the gift to its destination. The post office provides special markers for addressing and staplers for sealing.

"Use of these bags will provide another method to assist the U.S. Postal Service in its effort to reduce parcel damage, and insure delivery in good condition," Mr. Ferrara said.

Lake Skating Will Be Curtailed This Winter

There will be a supervised mated tab of $4,600 will be ice skating program on Lake Carnegie this winter but only in one area and only from 9 a.m. to dusk.

R. Donald Barr, executive director of the Recreation Department, which oversees the skating program on the Lake, has announced that skating will be limited to the area between the Washington Road and Harrison Street bridges. There will be no night skating.

Former aspects of the program will remain the same: the white (safe skating) and red flag warning system, a daily check of the ice by the ice skating officer and a 24-hour phone in the recreation office (924-9489) reporting ice conditions.

Mr. Barr explained at a meeting of the Recreation Board last week that the cut back in area and time was necessary after insurance companies told the board that it had to provide supervision and substantial barriers in order to continue to be insured.

The cost of supervision, two persons with walkie-talkies hooked up with the Princeton police and Princeton University Security will be stationed at either end of the safe skating area placed a financial burden on the Recreation Board, Mr. Barr stated. Only an eleven-hour agreement to share the cost saved the program, he said.

Not in Place of Parents "We are not assuming parental responsibility," Mr. Barr said. "We still want parents to accompany their children. It is dangerous even more so now that the lake has been dredged and is deeper."

"We are meeting only the necessary requirements to have insurance which we feel is essential if we are to have any skating at all. It's not ideal. We would have liked to have had three skating areas but we'll have skating. It was either this or no program at all."

The area between the two bridges was chosen, he explained, because the bridges themselves provided existing barriers and the area was large enough to meet Princeton's skating needs. "It's a sizeable area of the lake." In addition, he said that fluorescent type cones would be sunk in the ice under the arches of the bridges as a further barrier.

For supervisors to be stationed at both bridges, Mr. Barr said that he hoped to obtain off-duty police officers or persons trained in rescue work. A crash course in ice safety would be given to all those working as supervisors, he said.

Enforcement of the new program was up to the University, Mr. Barr said. "They can elect to do it themselves or as owners of the property they can set up no trespass areas and ask the police to enforce them." Mr. Barr reported that university officials had been very helpful and cooperative in working out the compromise solution.

Mr. Barr also stated that the Board had made every possible effort to find less stringent requirements, but we couldn't find any. This is the best deal we could find."

Information and publicity outlining the new ice skating policy would be distributed to the community as soon as possible, Mr. Barr said.

Borough Residents!

Don't put leaves in plastic bags. Don't put garbage in plastic bags unless the bags themselves are in a tightly-lidded garbage can. It's Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney speaking. Plastic bags can't be dumped, along with the leaves, into leaf-collecting machinery, he explains. Plastic bags containing garbage will soon, as winter moves in, freeze to the ground so that garbage men can't pick them up. Put leaves in piles between curb and sidewalk. Do not dump them in the gutter where they offer a tantalizing and hazardous playing spot for children.

DRIVER IS TICKETED
Following Rear End Collision, Mark W. Perry, 19, 67 Marion Road E., was issued a ticket for careless driving last Wednesday afternoon after he ran into the rear of a car on North Harrison Street. The driver of the other car, Ms. Elizabeth L. Wimbley, 44, of Trenton, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for a whiplash. She was fitted with a cervical collar.

Both cars were in a line of traffic being controlled by an officer at the intersection of Franklin Avenue. Sgt. John J. Bellow quoted Mr. Perry as saying, "I looked down at my radio and I thought traffic was moving forward but he stopped it again. I hit her." The mishap took place at 1:16 p.m. Mr. Perry was not injured.

CLUB CAN STILL HUNT
For A Time, The 22 members of The Antlers Club may continue to hunt in the Township with impunity as well as carry firearms. In a decision last Wednesday, Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kingfield continued the injunction obtained by the club prohibiting the Township from enforcing against Antlers members the new "you can't shoot in the Township" ordinance.

The injunction applies only to the 22 named members of the club, eight of whom live in the Township. Non-Antlers may not discharge firearms. Mayor John D. Wallace said this week, in characterizing club members as "responsible hunters," that they have assured him they will hunt only on land they lease. This is the Pettit acreage on Ridgeview Road and the Updike property on Quaker Road.

The Township asked Judge Kingfield for an immediate motion for summary judgment, to settle the question of the new firearms law once and for all. But the judge declined to hear the case, and suggested the parties return in January. Mayor Wallace said the Township will ask again at that time for judgment.

"We've had no occasion to enforce the new ban so far," he mayor said this week. "We've had about the discharge of firearms have turned out to be related to hunters in Montgomery, Lawrence or West Windsor."

LAHIERE'S ASKS CHANGE
In Zoning Officer's Ruling, In one of four cases to appear before the Borough Zoning Board Thursday evening at 8 in Borough Hall, Lahiere's Restaurant, 913 Witherspoon Street, will seek reversal of the zoning officer's decision concerning the proposed conversion of retail use to restaurant use.

Lahiere's wants to put some tables in a waiting area next to its new wine display. It says it will not increase the number of permit seats but will take tables from the main dining room to leave on garden terrace.

Howear Donald Hesse, zoning officer, said that...

the wine display is a retail area and in changing from a restaurant to a retail use, the restaurant had to provide off-street parking. The zoning ordinance calls for one parking space for each five seats.

Lahiere's, through its attorney Bruce French, is seeking a reversal of Mr. Harney's ruling, or, failing that, a waiver of the off-street parking requirement.

Nathaniel Burt, 20 Hibben Road, will seek a height variance for a proposed second-floor dormer addition to his garage. In his application, Mr. Burt says he plans to use the addition as a private music studio. The Burt home is located in an R-1 zone.

D. Don Richards, 70 William Street, needs a use variance to convert his single family home into a joint occupancy building. Mr. Richards, who presently operates University Radio Electric at 231 Nassau Street, hopes to install his TV, radio and repair business on the first floor and live on the second. He is being represented by attorney Reeves Hicks.

In a final application, Olga Hall of Mill Road, Gravers Mill, will ask for a reversal of the zoning officer's ruling ordering her to cease using the property at 44 Spring Street for retail purposes. The zoning officer contends that Mrs. Hall, who obtained an occupancy permit for the building at 44 Spring for a beauty salon, is now selling furniture.

Mrs. Hall had appeared before the board on September 28 with the same application but the board refused to hear her case after she failed to notify neighbors within 200 feet as required by law. The notices have been served this time by Mrs. Hall, who will be represented by New Brunswick attorney Charles L. Renda.

HELP WANTED

For Township Boards. Township residents with an urge to serve are invited to apply for a volunteer job through an advertisement which will appear in next week's TOWN TOPICS.

You can either submit your own name, or suggest the names of other people who might be willing and able, said Mayor John D. Wallace, announcing the move.

He said the decision to advertise was not related to last week's appearance of Borough Councilman Martin P. Lombardo before Committee. Mr. Lombardo urged Committee adopt his proposal for providing broader community representation on volunteer boards.

Dow Tops 1,000 But Recycling Hits New Low

"I'm disappointed that there isn't more voluntary activity in recycling," brooded Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week, as he sifted through recycling figures for the past several months. (Recycling schedules are on page 7 of this issue of Town Topics.)

Newspaper collection has remained fairly constant at 10,000 pounds per trip, he reported. But he had hoped this figure would increase.

Green glass has plunged to a low of 1,700 pounds, from its 6,000 pound height in the spring. ("Are people making their own wine, or what?" asked the mayor, who is himself a winemaker.)

Clear glass has slipped from 10,000 pounds to 8,900 and metal has dropped from highs of 5-6,000 pounds in the spring to around 2,000 this fall.

No decision yet, the mayor said, on whether to continue collections when the garbage-collection contract is renewed in February.

That measure was eventually voted down by Council.

"We've been building a resource list for some time," the mayor explained. "We've got a backlog of about 20 names, from the Women's Political Caucus, the League of Women Voters, various individuals." It is true "to a degree," he acknowledged, that governing bodies turn to politically active people for suggestions of names.

Then the mayor announced the appointment of Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman, 72 Philip Drive, to the Joint Recreation Board. Dr. Silverman, a pediatrician, has been active in young people's sports programs, the mayor said.

TRENTON PAIR CHARGED

With Trespassing. Two Trenton men, Earl Reading and Anthony M. Brenna, both 18, have been charged with trespassing and failure to give a good account of themselves.

The two were observed Wednesday evening at midnight on the third floor of the Princeton Inn College on Alexander Street by Princeton University proctor Samuel McKelvey. When he asked them to explain what they were doing there, they refused to answer.

After Ptl. Howard Sweeney of the Township police arrived, the two agreed to identify themselves. They told police that they had been invited to the dorm by a friend who had left them. After waiting, they decided to go search for him and found themselves lost on the third floor.

Proctor McKelvey signed the complaints against the two young men.

Equal Opportunity in Education

Judge Botter of the Superior Court of New Jersey in Hudson City found the present system for financing education to be against both State and Federal Constitutions, in equality of educational opportunity demanded by the State Constitution and the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment of the Federal Constitution.

Mr. Revoldt will discuss ways of operating public schools not to discriminate against pupils in areas of low real property wealth, or against taxpayers by imposing unequal burdens.

Reservations for the lunch are being accepted at the YWCA office.

TOUR THIS TUESDAY

Of Six Princeton Homes. Mr. and Mrs. James Hillier and six other Princeton residents will decorate their homes early for Christmas this year and open them for a Tour of Homes, this Tuesday for the benefit of the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute at Skillman.

The Hillier home combines traditional and contemporary architecture in a hilltop setting. An informal, contemporary wing was the original house built in 1950 and in 1962, a two-story Georgian style addition was completed. The original house has been turned into a living room, play room with a stone fireplace.

Every room in the house has an interesting vista whether onto a garden, a swimming pool, a Japanese stone garden or a wooded area where a waterfall splashes over a brick wall. Mrs. Hillier's interest in horticulture is reflected in several exotic plants and flowers around the house.

Christmas is spelled out throughout the house with a number of unusual floral displays and artistic arrangements of greenery. Furnishings and accessories at the Hillier home are both French and Oriental.

Also on tour is the contemporary residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bromberg, the antique-filled home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Burt, the Georgian style home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sands, the charming farmhouse residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McDowell and Morven, the truly historic pre-Revolutionary mansion of Governor and Mrs. William T. Cahill.

Tickets at $7.50 each are a valuable day of the tour at all of the homes on tour as well as at the Hun School, Edgerstone Road.

The Hun School will be the headquarters of the Christmas Shops on the tour day. There will be a wide selection of Christmas decorations and unusual gifts including costume jewelry, indoor Bonsai trees, children's clothes, toys, stocking stuffers and unique handicrafts. Refreshments and maps with directions to tour houses will be available at the school the day of the tour.

IDA Hearing Urged.
 To the Editor of Town Topics:
 Following is the text of a letter we have sent to Mayor John D. Wallace and members of Township Committee.
GEULAH ABRAHAMS
 Citizens in Search of Peace
 108 Clover Lane

The issue of opposition to the Institute for Defense Analyses proposed relocation in Princeton Township was first brought to the attention of the Princeton Township Committee by Citizens in Search of Peace in July, 1972. At that time our group presented a letter to the Township Committee which expressed our opposition as citizens of this community to IDA, and the reasons that made this opposition necessary both morally and legally.

The IDA issue was then brought to the attention of the citizens of Princeton in the form of public meetings and the circulation of literature about IDA and its plans for relocation in the Township. Finally, a petition was circulated requesting the Township Committee to prevent IDA's location in Princeton Township.

In little more than a month 1,650 citizens of Princeton Borough and Township signed the petition and it was presented to the Township Committee with a request for a public hearing to be held this evening (Nov. 20). On November 9, Mayor Wallace informed us that our request was denied.

We are convinced that there are compelling legal and moral reasons to bring this issue before the community in a public hearing; we therefore are continuing our efforts and are in consultation with our attorney.

Since this will be a matter for the consideration of the incoming Township Committee, we plan to proceed further in January, when the new members are seated.

We assume that the present Township Committee will fulfill its responsibilities to the citizens who have already signed the petition by advising the new Township Committee to hold a public hearing so that the opposition to IDA's proposed relocation here can be discussed and dealt with openly by all concerned.

We request that we be kept informed of any further action by IDA with respect to its proposed relocation in Princeton Township.

Mrs. Graves To The Rescue.
 To the Editor of Town Topics:
 I wish to salute the work that Mrs. Graves of S.A.V.E. is doing for this community.

Two years ago I was a new comer and found myself with a puppy from a litter some friends of ours had. It was a case of the right dog and the wrong time. I had just moved into a house in rough condition... workmen everywhere... our Siamese cat was boy.

I was beside myself, but

"Dear Editor:" Sixth Graders Say Thanks

TOWN TOPICS recently printed an article on a pre-election telephone poll conducted by the sixth graders of the Parsons-Powell House of The Middle School. Results of the poll appeared on page 20 of the November 16 issue. Class teachers are Barbara Powell and Robert Parsons.

Hi. Thank you very much for writing an article on our poll. I really appreciate it. I think your article made our poll much better and stopped people from thinking we were crank callers. Thanks again.

RACHEL LAMPERT

I appreciate your cooperation in helping us with our poll of the Princeton community. The article you put in your paper helped us enormously.

CHRIS PRICE

Thank you for printing the article on our poll. Without your help it would have been very hard to get the poll under way. Enclosed is a sample of the results of our poll. Thank you again.

JORDAN PAUL

Thank you for putting our article in your paper. The poll turned out fine. I appreciate your help and I'm sure it helped a lot of people answering knowing it wasn't a fake phone call. Thanks a million.

GRACE POOLE

Thank you very much for publishing our class article. We appreciated it very much.

RACHAEL BULL

Thank you very much for putting our article in your paper. It was very kind of you. If you want to know, our average difference was 41%. Thank you for your time.

PAM KULSRUD

Thank you for printing our class poll. Myself and the two classes appreciated the article. I will enclose the final results of our class project.

FRANCES WEISBERG

Thank you for printing the story in the paper, and thank you for putting the picture in too. It was a good picture.

TERRI CARTER

Thank you very much for printing the story. Enclosed are the results of the poll.

dened with detail and with no time to housebreak and train a brand new puppy. Add to this my 11 year old daughter was growing attached to the dog day by day. But she and my husband agreed we must give up the dog. But how?

We were new in the area and knew no one. We saw an ad in the paper for S.A.V.E. and contacted Mrs. Graves. Mrs. Graves sensed our plight and agreed to try and help. Her job is not an easy one as any one who has ever tried to place an animal can tell you.

It takes a dedicated love of animals and a keen knowledge of human nature to handle her work. She found a wonderful home for the dog and turned a sad situation into a blessing for all. Homes are found for as many abandoned animals as possible and lost animals are held at the shelter while their owners are contacted.

This needed work is done by S.A.V.E. (formerly Small Animal Rescue League) and is supported strictly by contributions.

Bazaar a Success.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It is with great satisfaction that I would like to inform you that our Red Cross Youth Holiday Bazaar netted over $230 through the sale of hand-made items. The time and many of the materials were donated by 32 senior and youth citizens of the Princeton community.

One full-sized afghan was sold for $35; most of the materials for this were donated by the Knitting Shop at 6 Tulane Street. Other items included embroidered pictures, crocheted scarfs and pocketbooks, knitted hats, mittens and booties, hand-made aprons and dried flower arrangements, original paintings, and baked goods.

The money raised will be used for Red Cross Youth projects, such as in local nursing homes, hospitals, day care centers, and retarded centers. Presently, they are planning a day of cleaning and painting in Wilkes Barre in December, and a collection of used books for a school system there in February.

Along with all the members of Red Cross Youth, I would like to extend our enthusiastic appreciation to all those who contributed their time and work to the Bazaar.

We would also like to thank the John Witherspoon School and the Princeton Gift Shop for displaying our wares ahead of time, to Town Topics for its support and coverage before the Bazaar, and the Princeton Housing Authority for the use of the Lloyd Terrace Recreation Room. And thanks to all those citizens who supported us with their purchases on November 18!

ART In Princeton

EXHIBIT STARTS SUNDAY

For Norton Simon Art. A most important collection of European art will go on exhibition at The Art Museum, Princeton University, beginning Sunday for at least one year. This marks a new approach in cooperation between the corporate and academic worlds.

Over 100 paintings, water-colors and sculptures selected from the collection of the Norton Simon, Inc. Museum of Art are included in the exhibition, which will occupy the University Museum's main galleries, and be used extensively by students and faculty in course work at Princeton.

The Norton Simon, Inc. Museum of Art is a collection established when Mr. Simon, the 65-year-old Los Angeles industrialist and civic leader, was actively involved with Norton Simon Inc. and its predecessor companies.

Since Mr. Simon's increased interest in public affairs, the corporation has actively continued to support the policy of the Museum in collecting master European paintings. Mr. David J. Mahoney, chief executive officer of Norton Simon, Inc. and a trustee of the Norton Simon, Inc. Museum of Art, has said of the Princeton exhibition:

New Approach. "The program starting with The Art Museum at Princeton is a new approach for us since it combines our interest in art and our historic concern for higher education. Corporations receive many benefits from universities and colleges, and Norton Simon, Inc. is no exception. We recognize our responsibility to higher education and see the loan of art as one way we can be of assistance to Princeton University."

Writing in the catalogue of the exhibition — edited by the Princeton Museum's Acting Director David W. Steadman — Mr. Simon comments: "Judging from the enormous rise in museum attendance throughout the country, it seems obvious that people are actively searching for something. Perhaps it is the self-awareness that art can provide.

Art is one of the most profound means of human communication. By establishing a meaningful dialogue between an artist's vision of the world and our own perceptions, art can help us to understand ourselves more fully. Moreover, art at its finest gives us a deep sense of history, tradition and the true potentialities of man's creativity."

Simon further acknowledges the privilege "of having this exhibition at Princeton University, where one out of four undergraduates attends at least one course in the Department of Art and Archaeology during his college years, and where, on the graduate level, future generations of art scholars and museum curators will be trained."

A large number of the works of art never before seen by an extensive public are in the exhibitions, as well as works already known in many of the nation's great museums. Included are such masterpieces as Bassano's "Flight into Egypt," Lucas Cranach the Elder's life-sized "Adam and Eve," Degas' "The Ironers," and van Gogh's "Portrait of the Artist's Mother."

Impressionism and Post-impressionism are well represented by works by Monet, Cezanne, Renoir, and Degas. Picasso and Matisse are included by both paintings and sculpture.

The catalogue of the exhibition is the first such compilation of works from the Norton Simon, Inc. Museum of Art. In addition to individual entries, the volume features short essays by members of the Princeton faculty and other Princeton-trained art historians.

The College Art Association is producing color slides of every object in the exhibition which will be available for teaching programs at colleges and universities across the country.

SEVERAL GRANTS MADE

By Council on the Arts. A number of recent grants from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts have been made to encourage individual and group involvement in the arts.

Grants awarded to the Art Educators of New Jersey, The Masterwork Music and Art Foundation, Willowbrook Ministries, City of Jersey City, North Jersey Cultural Council, the YM-YWHA of Bergen County, Queen of Angels Church, Mercer County Heritage Commission and Trenton State College all emphasize audience involvement. Grants for object creation went to the Catgut Acoustical Society, a research organization, and the Monmouth Museum. A functional arts grant was awarded to the Newarkfield Group Rehabilitation Center.

The new grants, totalling over $28,000, will, in many cases, be used to benefit individuals who are directly involved with the arts.

The Mercer County Heritage Commission will use its $1,100 grant to help create a slide study for creative experience called "Mercer County Heritage, Environment, Folklore." The slide program will be directed to ward Mercer County school age youngsters and will encourage their participation in activities available to them in Mercer County.

The total edition includes 100 numbered suites printed on Rives BFK paper, 20 deluxe suites, 6 suites reserved for the collaborators and 2 suites marked "Hors Commerce" and given to the Bibliothèque Nationale. Fifteen suites were retained by the artist, all marked "Artist's Proof". The stones and plates were then effaced.

The gallery is breaking the set in order to offer the prints individually to participants and friends of the gallery. Otherwise the prints are only available as a set and at considerably higher prices in the New York area.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

For "The Den" in Pennington. Colorful banners will be hanging from the front of 12 North Main St in Pennington this Saturday and Sunday as an invitation for the public to come to a holiday open house at a new art gallery called The Den. From 2 to 5 both days, a special art exhibit will offer the community an opportunity to see and buy art work from artists in the area.

A year ago, the idea for The Den was born, when Johanna Hankinson, who owns The Mulberry Bush, a children's clothing store in Pennington, set aside a room at the back of her shop for an art gallery to house paintings by her husband, William Hankinson, a well known area artist.

lery has captured the interest of many people. Along with paintings and drawings from other local artists, The Den also carries select gift items in pottery, glassware, and fine imported objects. Mobles hang from the ceiling.

The paintings of Mr. Hankinson have as subjects beautiful old barns and houses or a watercolor scene of Stony Brook, gleaming in the summer sun.

Evelyn Faherty is another artist showing work at The Den. Her subjects reflect a love for nature and the beautiful land she observes in our community.

Ann Gross, who teaches silk screen at the Princeton Art Association, will have a collector's assortment of her work at the open-house art exhibit this weekend.

Other artists whose work will be shown in the gallery are Pamela Wagner, Linda Osborne, Judy Masterson, Ellen Wright, Dorothy Dutke, Carol Dutke, Steve MacLaury, and Marietta Kust.

Weekly gallery hours are Monday through Saturday, 9:30 to 5:30. During December it will remain open until 8:30 on Friday.

Mr. Lee's workshop is held on Tuesday mornings, for which they had the good fortune to have excellent weather for outside painting. A long time professional artist, he is a member of the Woodmere Art Gallery and is presently included in the current exhibition.

Car Owners Must Carry I.D. Cards under New No-Fault Law

The No-Fault law applies to all private passenger type cars, whether owned by an individual or by a business, and to all light pick-up and panel trucks owned by an individual and not customarily used in the business of the individual, the Insurance Brokers Association of New Jersey reported this week.

Its statement on the new legislation follows:

Owners of such vehicles, who now carry insurance, will soon be receiving Identification Cards (I.D.) as required by the No Fault Law. Under the new law there will be two types of I.D. cards:

1. Permanent: This card must be carried in the car at all times, along with the registration card. A new Permanent I.D. card will be issued by the Insurance Company when your insurance is renewed.

end of the war will allow the Fund to use the proceeds for healing and rehabilitation projects. A list of "mending" organizations to which you in the wish to send a Christmas present of healing and good will is available at the Center.

The Princeton Peace Center is open from 10 to 5, Monday through Saturday. The all-volunteer staff, which serves the Center in all its activities, will be on the job up to the evening of Saturday, December 23. The Center will be closed during Christmas week and will re-open Tuesday, January 2.

SKI CLASSES FORMING

At Hopewell Adult School. The Hopewell Valley Community Adult School announces that registrations are now being accepted for ski classes to be held at Belle Mountain Ski ed, or at least once each year. 2. Temporary: These will be furnished in duplicate in cases where new insurance is being bound, but where a policy number is not yet assigned. Where motor vehicle inspection is required, and where the owner has Temporary I.D. Cards, they must be presented at the Motor Vehicle Inspection Station. One copy will be retained by the Inspection Station, and will be used for insurance verification purposes. Temporary I.D. cards must be replaced by a Permanent card within 60 days.

An I.D. card must be produced by the operator on the following occasions:

1. At the time of vehicle inspection.
2. At the time of an accident.
3. When stopped for a moving violation.
4. At any time when you are

Area on Monday and Friday evenings. The four week sessions are planned for both the beginning and intermediate skier.

Session I begins on January 8, and the second session starts on February 5. Beginners meet at 7 p.m. and intermediates at 8 p.m., and classes will be conducted by certified instructors of the Belle Mountain Ski School. A $12 registration fee covers the cost of instruction.

Those persons interested are advised to register early as class size will be limited. Please indicate session preference and ability level when enrolling.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Hopewell Valley Community Adult School office at 425 South Main Street, Pennington, or by calling 737-1611 between noon and 4 daily.

stopped by a law enforcement official for any reason (such as a road spot check).

Failure to produce the I.D. card will be presumptive evidence of uninsured operation of a motor vehicle for which the operator may be given a summons.

Other Points. Other provisions of the new law are as follows:

1. Each vehicle must have its own I.D. card by January 1, 1973.
2. I.D. cards will not be required for trailers.
3. The I.D. card will be needed to renew vehicle registration. You must present the I.D. card not only for renewal, but also for any kind of registration transaction, including replacement plates, amendment of registration, etc.

4. If you lose your I.D. card you must contact your insurance broker or agent, and not the Division of Motor Vehicles.

5. Your I.D. card is valid only while your insurance policy remains in force, and for no longer than the policy period indicated on the I.D. card.

6. You are given a new I.D. card when the policy is renewed, or when the information on the card needs to be changed.

7. If for any reason your insurance policy is terminated, the I.D. card becomes "null & void." If you continue to use it you will be violating the law, and you will become subject to very heavy fines and penalties.

If by December 15 you have not received an I.D. card for each vehicle you own that comes under No Fault, you should contact your Insurance Broker or Agent.

Under no circumstances should you drive a vehicle that comes under No Fault, after January 1, 1973, unless you have an I.D. card for that vehicle.

If you are not now carrying any insurance, you should make immediate application and thus avoid the difficulties that those who wait until the last minute are certain to encounter."

The Insurance Brokers Association of New Jersey, which meets at 537 Kearny Avenue, is an organization whose members represent their clients directly, as opposed to insurance agents, who represent one or more particular companies, and "direct writers" who are employees of these companies.

MAGAZINE PUBLISHED

By Area Resident, Glass collecting, a favorite pastime for a growing number of people around the world, now has a magazine exclusively devoted to the subject as a result of the efforts of G. Gerold Davis of Princeton Junction.

Mr. Davis is the editor and publisher of the new bi-monthly publication, which made its debut with the November-December issue, two months ahead of schedule, a neat trick when hanging out a publication for the first time.

"Glass" covers all periods of glass manufacture, from Ancient Egyptian to contemporary, all styles and uses, and every aspect of collecting, from electric insulators to fine art and engraved crystal. Some 64 pages in length with at least eight color pages per issue, it has a professional look about it which belies its infant status.

The editors of "Glass" intend it to be an ongoing reference library on the subject, suitable for binding and preserving. Indexes will be issued periodically.

The first issue contains articles by two well-known Princetonians. Constance M. Grieff has provided a detailed account on "Glass from the Hudson River to the Delaware River," and Jack K. Bimolover has written on his specialty, "American History in Flasks and Bottles."

Before he began to devote himself fulltime to the magazine, Mr. Davis worked for at least 20 years in public relations, publications and publications promotion for various organizations in New York. In recent years, he has served as publications consultant to a number of nonprofit organizations, and colleges.

His background in glass has been that of an avid collector for more than two decades and his writings on the subject are widely read.

Mr. Davis reports a strong spontaneous response to the magazine with subscriptions received from all over the world, as far away as Malaysia and Peru. Circulation reached 10,000 for the first issue. Subscription rates are $10 for a year, $25 for three years and $75 for five years. Price per single copy is $2. Mailing address is P.O. Box 312, Princeton Junction.

a $75,000 contract by Bayside Pipeline Company of Burlington to conduct an environmental impact study of a proposed deepwater terminal and pipeline for the transfer of crude oil from the Delaware Bay to Delaware River refineries.

Bayside Pipeline Company has undertaken the study to ensure that their plan will have minimal adverse environmental effects while providing a means for satisfying the increasing fuel needs of east coast states.

The proposed deepwater mooring and underwater pipeline would permit direct unloading of crude oil from large ocean-going tankers, thus providing an alternative to small tanker delivery of oil up the Delaware to refineries. No such facility presently exists along the East Coast.

In assessing the proposed offshore project, Mathematica For Environmental Study, Mathematica, Inc., a Princeton-based research and consulting firm, has been awarded.

Play Basketball with the Police

The Community Park School gym will be open every Monday and Thursday evening from 7 to 9:30 for boys in the Borough and Township who may want to go in and shoot baskets and play basketball with members of the Borough police.

Chief Michael Carnevale reported that the police have obtained use of the gym primarily for the kids. He described it as another step in the Borough police drive for better community relations.

The program is being headed by Detective Thomas Michand, a former basketball standout at Notre Dame High School and the leading scorer on the Borough basketball team. Chief Carnevale said that members of the department would be present each night. "I had no trouble finding volunteers," he said.

The gym was made available to police by the Princeton Regional School Board at no cost.

In addition to the move to larger quarters, the company name has been changed to Lenhart Advertising, Inc. ## VICE PRESIDENT NAMED

At Princeton Bank & Trust, Cornelius Arnett has been named as Vice President of Princeton Bank and Trust.

Mr. Arnett returns to the Bank after several years at City National Bank of Connecticut, most recently as Senior Vice President and Controller. He has served on several committees of the New Jersey Bankers Association and Connecticut Bankers Association. In addition to being a regular lecturer at the American Management Association in New York.

Long active in civic and charitable work, Mr. Arnett is a past president of the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce and was elected an outstanding Young Man of America by the Jaycees. In Connecticut, he served as various capacities including President of the Watertown Chamber of Commerce, President of Eastern Society and as an elected official of the town of Woodbury.

Born in Yardley, Pennsylvania, he graduated from The Choate School and the University of New Mexico.

felt that it has been hindered in designing a coherent format because of the segmented nature of its programming. Previously there was a sharp break between the rock, classical and jazz sections of the day.

To smooth the transition between the various forms of music, to form a more cohesive air sound and to appeal to a wider audience, WPRB has decided to program progressive rock music during prime evening time (7-11) and is integrating classical music into the morning programming, Sunday 15 and eventually into an 11-3 daily time slot.

At the same time but in independently of the schedule change, WPRB becomes an affiliate of the American Broadcasting Co. This means WPRB will also be a member of the American FM radio network and will carry five minutes of American FM news on the quarter hour between 7:15 a.m. and 12:15 a.m.

WPRB is a non-profit commercially licensed station owned and operated by the Princeton Broadcasting Co. It is run entirely by undergraduates of Princeton University and is governed by a board of trustees made up of WPRB and Princeton alumni. Its studios and offices are located in the basement of Holder Hall on the University campus using space provided by Princeton University.

The Governor's VIEW

By Gov. William T. Cahill

ABOUT MASS TRANSIT
Some Progress Being Made.
Ever since I became Governor in 1970, I've worked hard at trying to arrange a solution to our public transportation problem.

There were times when it seemed so complex and expensive and when the situation with our present system seemed so deteriorated and getting worse that I almost thought it was hopeless. Almost.

But we continued plugging away at it anyway, and every time we were stopped in one direction, we'd start out in another.

I was determined that this problem would not go unsolved. It was one of my campaign promises that if I were elected I would do everything possible to get the Port Authority to use its tremendous financial resources to develop modern mass transportation systems for our citizens of northern New Jersey.

After just about three years of labor, we were able to announce last week that we have worked out an agreement with the state of New York and with the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey for a project that will go a long way toward untangling our public transportation bottlenecks in the congested northern part of our state.

I don't represent the plan as a final solution. In fact, I think it really is only the beginning. But I think it is an important beginning that finally launches us in the right direction of offering large numbers of our citizens a choice of public transportation, between their homes and the nearby metropolitan centers, that is fast, dependable, clean, safe, comfortable and competitively priced when compared with alternate means of transport.

Extension of PATH. The plan consists of two basic measures. The first is the extension of PATH, now connecting downtown Manhattan and Penn Station, Newark, to Newark Airport and on out to Plainfield, a distance of about 20 miles.

This will give high-speed commuter service to an important population corridor in Union County. The second would link the Erie Lackawanna rail system, now feeding into Hoboken, to the Penn Central main line for direct service into midtown Manhattan. Erie Lackawanna commuters would no longer have to transfer to PATH at Hoboken.

This will give direct rail service to Penn Station, New York for New Jersey residents of Bergen, Passaic, Morris, Union, Somerset and Essex Counties, as well as Rockland and Orange Counties in New York.

Just think of what all this will mean in terms of relief for our hard-pressed highway system. Experience in other places, has shown that people who are given a choice of traveling between home and work during peak hours in bumper-to-bumper traffic or using modern mass transit that is dependable and convenient, will choose mass transit.

Switch to Mass Transit. We can safely expect that when these changes are completed over the next several years, thousands of our citizens will switch to mass transit, helping to relieve the crowded conditions on our highways, reducing the demands for the continued paving of our lanes for an ever-growing number of highways, and reducing the motor vehicle pollution that is daily spewed into our atmosphere by autos.

There were long delays while many of the engineering problems involved in this project were worked out. The solutions they produced included replacement of the existing drawbridge over the Hackensack River with a high-level fixed span, a new railroad yard in the Secaucus area, expansion of parking facilities at stations, and track and signal improvements.

But most important, in order to tap the resources of the Port Authority, we had to draft legislation that would remove present restrictions on the Authority's participation in developing rail passenger service.

As a result, mostly Port Authority and federal funds will be utilized in developing the $650 million program. We expect that most of any financial participation that might be required of the State of New Jersey can be met with funds that are presently committed to rail transportation.

The necessary change in the the November SAT's and faced the December 'Achievements' and some told me they felt 'tested to death'." Dr. Huchet reported.

Teachers are uneasy about what will be done with test results, he told the board. They are wondering, he said, whether to gear their courses to the tests. He suggested the answer will depend on how the board, the school staff and the Princeton community react to results of the tests when these results are released.

In personnel actions, the board appointed a nurse and a psychologist for St. Paul's School, as now required by state law. The state pays the salaries, Dr. Bierman said, but the teachers come under the Princeton schools salary negotiations.

law has been submitted to the Legislature. We expect that work on this vital transit improvement can be started this coming year.

A REDWOOD CUSTOM CONTEMPORARY ON A BEAUTIFULLY LANDSCAPED ACRE LOT IN ONE OF OUR AREA'S MOST POPULAR NEIGHBORHOODS!

Sycamore Lane, Montgomery Park, just about four miles from Nassau Street... custom-built just five years ago by its now transferring owners, here is a spacious redwood contemporary that probably could not be reproduced today for the asking price! Offering 2590 square feet of living space, wide foyer and large, large rooms divided among five bedrooms, three full baths, living room, dining room, kitchen with barbie and comfortable family room with a floor to ceiling stone fireplace. All on one floor but with a downstairs that could easily be finished into a second story of playrooms, offices or apartment. Thermopane windows throughout, hardwood floors, walls of ceramic tile, slate entrance floor, huge two-car garage, special service entrance, and lovely, lovely landscaping. Dogwoods, shrub-landscaping, blue spruce and pines are generously placed amid the blue stone walks - not a lower school system to be found than here in Montgomery Township. # Imaginative Tips to Make Your Christmas Shopping Easier

THE YULETIDE SPIRIT
And An Early Start. People are shopping early this year, a shopkeeper said in some surprise during Thanksgiving week. Last year, hampered by the dock strike, a number of Princeton shops that import special items for Christmas were on tenterhooks, but this year everyone is ready.

The shops are aglow with Christmas lights and trim, there are delightful gifts for all purse sizes, and we offer here a cross-section of the findings from our advance scouting. In the words of the most famous phrase of the 1960's:

Right On?

The University Store has installed the '12-25 Shop' again, with handicrafts from around the world, tree trimmings and a fine selection of stocking stuffers — particularly toys.

For the tree: four-sided gold stars from West Germany ($1), mirrored bells from India ($1.75); straw santas from Ecuador ($1.75), and bright little chicaloes from Sweden ($2.25).

From Italy: a do-it-yourself creche which comes with hand-painted figures of the Holy Family, the Three Kings, animals, shed and even trees. And also from India, a fan-tastic Gujarati elephant of handwoven cotton, colorfully stitched, tasseled and jeweled in reds, purples, and yellow (A generous size, $6.50).

The 12-25 shop, located on the first floor, by the way, has long, carved wooden shelves.

bles from Russia ($1.50). Ecuadorian dolls that wear straw hats ($3.95); and a Bolivian trio of mother and two young ones hanging onto her apron — in yarn with braided hair ($10.95).

For small ones' amusement, see the East German ferris wheel in painted wood ($3.50); the little red suitcase with a doll and dress inside ($3.50); and the package of model train landscaping items ($2.75).

Doll house furniture offers colonial styles, such as a high-boy ($11.95); a highback captain's chair of cherry ($2.25); a deacon's bench, a music box player piano, a dining table with four padded chairs ($5.50), and even a colonial desk, complete with three drawers and a miniature pull-out writing surface ($4.95).

Also at 12-25 are such items as pinecone birds, Czechoslovakian puppets, Ethiopian and Iraqi jewelry of silver or pewter, and — in a sunburst of color handloomed spreads, scarves and long, fringed skirts from Guatemala.

The Eye for Art, 7 Spring Street just off Witherspoon, has antique prints by George Cruikshank, illustrator of Dickens' works, in matted form and ready to wrap up. The prints date from the 1850's and provide sharp comment on the events of the day — with some still relevant today. The

Let's Trim Up the House and Tree

Retreat from the world in an egg chair, equipped with audio speakers, and put your feet up on the matching ottoman. White, with a marigold vinyl cushion, matched with a mushroom-shaped ottoman $378 and $40 at Viking Furniture). Exact replicas of famous guns, in miniature with frames to hang on the wall. Colt 45 and Mauser 7.36 among them. Set of two, $20, at Viking).

Advent calendars — all from Denmark, and including one that yields a trinket for each day (At Country Mouse). A complete aquarium for the Age of Aquarius, including the fish $16.99, Woolworth's).

Miniscule, gold-tipped Christmas candles-lights in a string of ten each about three inches high $10.95; miniature bubble lights in reflector enclosures; frosted white bird-lights ($5.95) or white, brush-skirted angels with a candle in each small hand $13.95. Tree lights at Country Mouse.

kettles and kitchen utensils ($15).

There's still time to have them matted — say in a cheery-toned burlap, and The Eye for Art can cope with this very nicely. In fact, they frame right on the premises, so you have time to frame a Christmas gift.

Paints and prints by Princeton artist Helen Schwartz will be shown December 1 through Christmas.

titles are typical. A Packed Meeting of the Knowing Cards of the Betting Shop" (a fore-runner of OTB). "Advice to Those About to Marry," and more. ($10).

There's a good collection of unusual geological specimens, proving once again that it's hard to beat nature's art. Nearby are racks of prints and paintings to browse through. You'll see Leslie Bloch's fun drawings that will add a great touch to some one's dining or kitchen area. She works with bright reds, yellows and greens on line drawings of vegetable, tea

Polly's Fine Candies

Louise Maas' candy shop, a fixture in Princeton for many years, is now Polly's Fine Candies, owned by Polly Lyons, a firm friend with the same keen taste for superb candies, cookies and fruit cakes.

Located still in Palmer Square, Polly's is featuring some fascinating little chocolate and peanute candies shaped like sea horses and snails, a seafood offering from Belgium's Fruits de Mer ($1.50). And the famous Old Dominion candies in one-pound and five-pound boxes, $2.85 to $12).

You have until December 15 for mailing but give the shop a fair start on proper packing and well as for Polly Lyons' artistic gift wrapping. On the shelves and in the

The "Open Shirt Tie" — interesting prints in a new wrap-around-the-neck style that replaces the turtleneck; and jaunty "fur" hats with feathered cockade and tooled leather band, such colors as forest green, dark gold, and more — all at Bill's Men's Shop.

A white blazer in broadtail for the Girl of Your Dreams, or a mink vest, perhaps! (Milady, Palmer Square).

Nighties in brushed nylon acetate, with delicately embroidered yokes ($3.29 and $3.99 at Woolworth).

Lace blouses, with high, ruffled neck and long sleeves ($12.98 at Bailey's, Princeton Shopping Center).

Rep ties ($4); button-down shirts in oxford cloth ($7.50); Tiger license plates frames ($1.89); or the Mini-Math, a pocket computer for ($2.29); all at the University Store.

best pancake topping. Polly's has a delectable assortment of chocolates to choose from in making up a special gift; licorice can come in a coal bucket, if you want — in chunks with a small hammer to break it up; and see those exquisite crystallized violets, rose petals and mint leaves, prettily packaged.

Friends in the nursing homes will appreciate Kringle cookies from Holland ($1.50); or Belgian pastry twists; or no-calorie rice krunchies from Japan, and there are even dietetic cookies for those who are forbidden sweets.

Toys Under The Tree.

Zinder's on Nassau Street has a Hitachi radio hidden in a wooden soldier ($15), and another in a red leather case no bigger than a deck of cards. Well made, but inexpensive radios.

Mme. Alexander's life-size baby doll, known in the trade as "Huggums," comes in a pink sleeper ($15), and is a durable as well as exquisite piece of doll workmanship. There are others, too; all enchanting additions to a nuptial's world.

For boys, the Corgi toys and Britains from 25c to $1.25 or so. A knight in armor, seated on his charger; a group of cowboys on a raft, at least they looked like cowboys to us, and we wondered if they were trying a new way home from the round up.

There's a castle with a drawbridge, available in three sizes (and prices), and a commendable assortment of sandbox and play yard stuff with wheels. And puzzles for fans of the Jets, Giants and the Eagles ($2).

Unisex gifts at Zinder's include a junior-size clown chair that inflates ($4.99); pogo sticks, a David Cassidy guitar ($7.69); Kenner's juke box which plays a half hour from unbreakable cylinder records; and posters; View Master slides on the theme of "Stop, Listen and Learn" ($1.50 for most). There's a talking View Master at $12.99.

Zinder's is full of Creative Playthings' latest inventions. We amused ourself with the giant magnet that has a keeper bar ($2.50). The selection includes a giant Ride em bus; a Junior Lock Box; matching games that teach perception.

And forget the yellow rubber duck for the tub — this generation goes for the yellow rubber hedgehog.

Gifts For The House.

Viking Furniture has a thing going with lights and lamps these days — many by George Kovacs, whose "pluckies" replace the "zonkers" of yesterday.

His wall-to-wall lighting is a group of magnetic spotlights, each with three separate plates to attach permanently to the walls. Pluck off the light and move it from bedroom to den, or wherever ($19.90). See also his "Small Contribution to the Arts" — lighting for paintings.

Worth exploring is Viking's plastic desk that hangs from the wall and folds up to the size of a bridge chair. On duty, the desk is about a yard long, resting on an end panel that has pockets for books. The wall section has a cork surface for pin-ups of various sorts. Made by Moretti in white or bright red ($90). There's also a well-designed table in the same series, round, with storage area underneath.

From Belgium, a nest of three glass tables, round, with metal handles on the side ($39.95); and to go with them, we forget from where, black vinyl cushions on a chrome frame, forming a low-backed loveseat ($159.95); or, in natural leather — a sling chair on a stainless steel frame. Elegance at $234.

Viking is showing heavy glass vases from Austria — the shapes are unusual (some about $18); bookends of rocks and minerals; and clocks that range from the beautiful contemporary designs by Howard Miller to a computerized clock in a black cube that misses maybe two seconds a year ($155).

The University Store has Audubon calendars ($4.95) in full color, and the Princeton in Portrait calendar — which includes a schedule of university events (spiral binding, $2.95).

There's an electric tiger clock for a young person's wall, the tail swings back and forth as the eyes open and close, ($9.95, and better than counting sheep). And music for the alumnus — records by The Nassoons, the Symphonic Band, the Princeton Footnotes and the Tigertones, priced from $4 to about $5 in stereo. In monaural, the University Band joins other groups in singing and playing the famous Old Tiger songs.

Gift ideas for the culinary department include the hand-cast Armentale metal that has the pewter look, but you can use it from freezer to stove to table. Side pieces include a Misty angora appears at Elle, on Chambers Street, in a soft pink sweater ($20) and knitted into a cherry red hat ($8), among other items preeminently boxable.

The shop is showing lovely, long skirts in emerald green; others in red; velvet jackets nicely fitted and tailored, as well as the graceful, sexy palazzo pants in a good choice of color ($50).

Elle has delicious long dresses with halter tops and with skinny, cover-up tops. A full-length coat in velvet, topped with a slim hood, to wear regardless of the evening weather, as it is Zepel-treated ($90).

From London, Italy and Paris, one-of-a-kind jewelry, from chunky bangles to intricate necklaces with amethyst pendants.

In Princeton Shopping Center, Bailey's has an excellent selection of Christmas robes. Among them, a deep brown nylon velour quantity set off with Pilgrim collar and cuffs — pretty enough to wear as an evening coat ($17.98). A matching long robe and gown blend two shades of pink in a very feminine way. The robe is shocking pink, piped in a pale tone, and there's a tie at the shirred waist ($12.98). The V-necked gown has a pale pink top with waist shirring and tiny bows ($8.98).

And in a cozy warm velour knit, a robe featuring long, bright vertical stripes, touched off with black collar, cuffs and tie belt. The stripes are a pulsing combination of cherry red, pink and olive ($23).

Bailey's long dresses have a lot of style. We were struck with the lovely tone of mid night blue in a high-waisted, long sleeved top matched with a jewel-colored, patchwork velvet skirt. The waist is held by a wine colored velvet ribbon ($39.95). Another dress, a satiny beige shirt dress that ties softly at the waist, with small white buttons down the front ($29.98). Also in a peach tone.

Bailey's has some interesting coats, include a soft camel color wool with a hood and tie belt. (Junior or miss sizes, $46.98). Small gift items include long wear and good fit in Danskian party hose (one size for all); gloves in wool with leather palms ($3.98) or in brushed suedes lined with deep pile ($7.98).

Needlecrafters' Gifts

The Knitting Shop on Tulane Street doesn't always succumb to just knitting. In crewel, for instance, a number of kits in fascinating stitches, even including a his-and-her crewel-work key kit, designed by Erica Wilson. A pair of key rings, hardware and yarn are included; the designs are flowers for her and an American eagle for him. ($5)

For crocheters — a peck a boo dress in a $4.50 kit; baby sweaters for little guys and dolls in $2.50 kits. Juffy stitchery in fun kits that result in framable armadillos, roosters or Sam, a red, white and blue butterfly. ($2.99)

For modernists, string art that include fabric on a board to work on and produce a fleur de lis or another pattern. And the woman who likes matching skirts and sweaters, will appreciate her favorite color in wool skirt lengths and matching skeins of yarn for a sweater.

Pillow fanciers can make an all-wool rya pillow in a quick latch hook stitch ($9); and, in embroidery, enjoy a Four Seasons kit, which results in a 15 by 20 picture when completed. The snow scene centers on a nestled house and smoking chimney. All are easy to do in an interesting variety of stitches, which are diagrammed.

Clayton's Yarn Shop on Palmer Square comes to the rescue of Colonial Williamsburg visitors who forgot to buy a flamestitch pillow kit when they were there. The Yarn Shop has the kits on hand, everything is included for a 16 inches square pillow top ($18).

The shop offers a choice of traditional Christmas stockings to knit or needlepoint ($3.50 to $10); quickly-made eyeglass cases in a pansy design to work with crewel yarn on No. 17 canvas. Designed by Elsa Williams ($10). Also needlepoint miniatures on four inch square canvas to use as coasters, or to stitch together with solid colored squares in between $45 for the design squares in such themes as blue butterflies, red oak leaves and acorns).

To crochet or knit, crib-size blankets in the usual soft colors reserved for infants. The finished piece is about 36 inches by 48 inches, plus fringe. ($10)

And for the young craftsman, "Pronto Print" by Paragon, a quick-stitch to do on an 18" square printed canvas. We loved the design titled "Measles" — red yellow-blue color areas with a daisy as a surprise. ($10)

Around the Yarn Shop: Latchwork — which men like to do, making pillows, pictures and tote-bags (see the marvelous "London Bus"); and needlepoint kits depicting enchanting small boys on five-by-seven canvases pushing a massive snail, riding a great green grasshopper...

Hobbies and Toys

There's something for all at The Hobby Shop on Nassau Street — a kit to start someone on the art of dried flower arrangements — train sets and accessory kits — birdfeeders to make — stamp books — dragster models — miniature cars and steam shovels — books on coins — microscopes — a table loom...

Intriguing miniature figures — sets of fighting men in action poses, such as the cavalry of the Roman legions, charging knights, Napoleonic soldiers, Colonial cavalry, and the Blues and Grays of the Civil War.

Science kits, keyed to young groups, include a chemistry laboratory for explorers 9 to 12 ($4.98); a geology lab for age 8 and older ($10.98), and a biology set-up for approximately age 10 to 14.

Among the train sets, we noted in HO scale an outfit for an interesting railroad pike: two switches, a remote control for unitching cars, plenty of track and rolling stock that includes a Pennsy engine with coal car and three freight cars. ($62.40)

Kits for kids are in great abundance. Choose the prehistoric monster; a PBY-5 Catalina flying boat; the whaler Charles W. Morgan; Cessna, Sky Hawk and Lightning planes; battle tanks and trucks, racing cars; missiles; antique cars, and more. The car kits include both metal and plastic models.

For the serious hobbyist, finely tooled, scale models of famous cannon, made in Italy ($12.95 up); a terrarium kit ($7.98); all kinds of candle molds, from the colonial taper to such shapes as mushrooms ($2) and "Smiley." Plus a good choice of waxes.

Edging through Nassau Hobby, we found paperback books on all kinds of crafts — such as the one on tape painting, giving a basic course, abetted by 40 full-size patterns ($2.50). Craft kits include wire sculpture, beginners' oil painting, and even latch-hook rugs.

Spun Steel Planters

An intriguing new development for indoors-outdoors is Four Seasons' hanging planters — made of spun steel in versatile linked pots and trays. Use singly or in multiples for flower pots, bird feeders, candle holders or to ripen fruit.

The tray shape is $2.25, and the pot sizes (four to six inches) range from $6.50 to $8.50. Instructions include information on the rust, or not to rust, effect. Made by Taylor and Ng, and available at Ambleside Gardens, Route 206, Belle Mead.

Street has the newest in albums for the photo fanatic — attractive, traditional and contemporary covers with the new stay-in-place acetate pages inside to hold the pictures firmly. ($2.99) Nearby are five year diaries with contemporary prints on the covers (under $1), and handy little pocket diaries and address books (.39c) to tuck into someone's Christmas stocking.

For mother-the-sewer clear plastic chests to hold threads, needles, tapes and scissors in an orderly way on two trays ($3.99). And "Buttoneer" which sews on a button in less than a minute ($4.99). To add a new flair to her household responsibilities, some interesting gadgets such as the bottle-and-jar cutter, which converts salad dressing jars, beer bottles and even gallon jugs into useful items from tumblers to vases. Also Seal-a-Meal, a gadget which seals TV dinners in plastic bags; and how about a travel iron. ($4.79)

Toys for the kids occupy a lot of space and the choice is generous. Famous Fisher-Price offerings include a great little doll house for imaginative girls. It opens in half on a side hinge and reveals upstairs and downstairs filled with furniture to arrange and re-arrange.

Other Fisher-Price items at Woolworth's: a small piano that plays three tunes; action garages ($13.99), airports and cute things for toddlers.

We saw a whole counter of cars and trucks in all sizes (and prices), in plastic and in metal. Among the airplanes, a set of three World War I models in plastic; Fokker, Camel and Spad ($1). For a little action on Christmas morning, a stunt plane with plastic rope and ring (39c).

Woolworth has lots of puzzles — for any age — and stockings stuffers galore.

For a child's room, book-ends with Raggedy Ann at one side and Andy at the other — or pairing Mickey and Minnie Mouse; and for sunlit windows, a new collection of stained glass ornaments — including a trumpeter, a parrot, an angel ($5.25 to about $13).

attractive fold of leather — that some women buy to keep their cosmetics in ($7.50).

There are cigaret cases — including a handsome, fine-grained leather ($10); a good supply of humidors and pipe racks in grainy woods. Also pipe tools — to keep the pipes clean and in working order, and of course, an awesome selection of tobaccos and cigars from everywhere except Cuba. Cuban imports are illegal.

Out At The Barn

Red Barn Casuals, the dress shop on Route 206, Belle Mead, has New York styles at low overhead prices, and a visit there may well be in order.

We liked the brown, crushed velvet suit with its long skirt slit-sided and topped with candlelight satin. The jacket has matching satin lapels and a single, jeweled button. Another, a slinky Banton with skinny shoulder straps of rhinestones. In purple ($35). And still another (we had fun), a full-length sweater, pale blue with a turtle-neck dickey ($70).

Red Barn has found some charming jewelry — old beads set in antique arrangements; a granny necklace of amber and gold with a lacy pendant; a crystal tear-drop pendant at the center of another; and more.

For a pants outfit, Red Barn has Ciaga's three-piece: taupe pants with a gold vest and checked jacket. In another mood, a three-piece outfit that tops a gold-ribbed turtle-neck pullover with a marvelous cape-coat of rust-brown gold plaid. Matching skirt, and leather trim here and there ($139).

Kay Knatura has thoughtfully added men's gifts to the Red Barn collection: leather gloves with stretch inserts (from $6.); pure silk scarves ($6); and delightful cap-and-mittens sets from Italy made in soft beige yarn ($10).

The Red Barn hours may just suit your hatted schedule: open Sundays from 1 to 5 until December 17, weekdays 10:30 to 5:30; closed Mondays. Watch for the shop on your left after you pass the Belle Mead post office.

Wrap Up A Pipe

Skirm's Smoke Shop at the corner of Nassau and Palmer Square has some interesting pipes and carrying cases to add to the collection of some pleased male recipient.

The pipes, from Dunhill, Comoy's, Savinelli of Italy, Danish handouts, and even the Sherlock Holmes-type calabash, have much in variety to offer. Prices are $4 to $75. (The Sherlock is $17.50 ap).

We saw among the pipe carriers, a pliant black calf-kn bag that zips in three places for pipes, another — red-lined, holds tobacco as well and zips around the ends like a toiletry case (about $25).

Tobacco pouches in ostrich skin or calf-kn, include a model that is a simple but

The Sewer's World Is Full of Gadgets

Clayton's, Palmer Square, has yielded gadgets from its fabric department.

Sterling silver thimbles ($5), electric scissors with an 84-in. cord and stainless steel blades (by Dritz, $8).

The encyclopedic Vogue Sewing Book ($15); and the Vogue Book of Alterations and Adjustments ($9.95); or Butterick's excellent advice to beginners compiled in "Ready, Set, Sew" ($4.95).

Paste pin cushions, the size of a saucer, to stuff in Mom's Christmas stocking, or to wrap up for a friend in the nursing home. Or the magnetic safety-pin caddy ($2), or a very neat little kit with all the essential thread colors and traveling needs a college girl will have ($4 to $5).

It's New To Us

pletely unique is available at the garden's little shop, miniature elephants from India, embroidered felt stockings, small animals in sets of four ($2.25); small peppers and tomatoes; Ecuador's bread dolls, each a collector's delight ($1.50 each for the rooster, turtle, bird, tree, wreath, $2.50 for the llama); intriguing pine cones and pods from all over the world.

Ambleside has pine cone wreaths readymade ($2.95 to $3.95); and candle rings in wreath form or of dried flowers ($2.50 & $3.95). There are all kinds of Christmas trees and better get them now and set them in a pot to plant later if you wish.

Little gilly and decorative items include Mexican ceramic candleholders with all sides to keep off the wind ($2.75), very small ink cans filled with dried flowers ($1.95) and even kitchen grinders with a candle inside.

The prettiest wind chimes we've seen are at Ambleside: three long strands of blown glass in a linked champagne glass effect ($12.50). The shop has lots of tree ornaments in handblown glass, and in contrast, utilitarian wooden spoons and graduated tin measures trimmed in Yuletide greens.

We were fascinated by the bird collection — all varieties and sizes in use for decorative purposes — and to enjoy all year; the plump partridge.

$1.25. There are birds' nests, mossy-roofed houses, and to add a completely fantasylike look try the optic fibre sprays that fit over miniature lights in a box of 12, $3.95.

Roaming Ambleside in an enchanted way, we found gnomes, with their hand-carved by Leonelo Velli and his family in Costa Rica. Peru lovely terra cotta tin snails, the village scene, and workers in the field and fields ($11.95). A large gourd about the size of a pumpkin has more than 24 different carved and painted faces.

And for the gardener, planters including the Four Seasons variety for use indoors or out. The tin snails are on sale from Tuesday through Friday 10 to 6, Sundays 2 to 4 and Mondays.

For Father & Son John

You may have heard of the newest development in watches, the quartz watch which has a digital readout and uses a quartz crystal to keep it accurate. Princeton's old-fashioned jeweler (although that's not far in terms of age), H. H. Kaufman, who has the Watch Shop on Chambers Street, comes back from a series of lectures on the new watch with a "wait and see" attitude.

"I'm waiting for it to prove itself," he told us on Saturday. The only one I would recommend at the present time is the Aquamatrix which uses the regular timing fork movement and incorporates a quartz crystal for accuracy.

He continued: The Times quartz watch uses the one he has come to like most. It's a little quartz and it's supposed to be more accurate. He said: "Price on the Times version $125."

The shop has a complete watch with two and more interestingly by Langues, Crislin, Luvon, al Genevieve and others. We especially admired a slim gold pocket watch with a willow yellow dial.

See also the hand-me-downs. Antiques with beautiful leather, the wristwatch and the famous Waltham 9000 the dial tells everything but the weather.

Hill's Men's Shop on West 42nd Street is a friendly place with a good selection of books, sweaters (as well as the lighter weight shells) and sport. There's a rich variety in checked, striped, interest combinations of colors and stripes of various widths and coordinate colors in green and gold combinations for a stylish, argyle pattern.

often in two colors such as green and gold, or green on green; and heavy Aram weaves.

From California, jackets in the softest suede with zip-in plush lining (also a calfskin version) designed with single-button front and yoked back. Great belts ranging from extremely rough, pebbled calf to medium grain to smooth. And handsome velour shirts with four-button sports-shirt opening and long sleeves.

A good selection of robes, too: plaids or solid colors and a choice of Dacron-cotton; terrycloth, or all-wool. Different lengths. And don't forget a gift certificate for Knox or Stetson hat; Bill's has about 400 hats in stock; or for a new suit—the shop has both Ivy classics, to the newest knits.

Brophy's on Palmer Square has handsome suede slippers, cut moccasin style, with red fleece lining and firm soles... a successful, long-lasting gift.

From Sweden, sensational Tretorn shoes for casual wear have proved so popular the store is constantly re-ordering. Made with a built-in arch support, suede tops and rubber sole ($25).

Mopet-Size Gifts

The 12/25 Shop at Princeton University Store is a-buzz with young world delights, such as puppets from Czechoslovakia; a hand-painted Nativity scene designed in Italy, to be put together ($4.75); dolls from Ecuador ($3.95); and model train sets in painted wood from West Germany ($1.50).

And at Zinder's, Nassau Street, "Babykin," a small armful in a white wrapper ($4.50); and another version, with black or white skin and a soft flexibility ($9); also a radio hidden in a wooden soldier ($16); Corningware coffee pots, cups & saucers ($2.49) — and for brain time, The Grandmaster chess set, with instructions and a two-sided playing board for beginning or advanced players.

Saddle shoes, a come-back that has intrigued males of all ages come in beige calf with brown saddle, or in a paler tone with a reddish-brown saddle.

For hikers, Brophy has the much-requested Taylor of Maine boots, with the flexible, cushioned backs and deep-grip treads on the sole. In all-calf or calf-and-suede models, about ankle high.

A new boot, designed for men or women, is a Canadian import in mid-calf length with a flexible crepe sole poured on from over the tip of the toe to part-way up the back of the heel. No sole stitching is visible. In an off-white calf with suede upper section, and warmly lined. ($37 and $40)

Brophy's has gift certificates for a donor's convenience, and to fill them, fine quality slip-on shoes for dress from Johnson & Murphy, and traditional styles—even white bucks for the South.

The Glamour Touch

Milady in Palmer Square has some of the prettiest Victorian jewelry we've seen anywhere in authentic antique pieces that include bracelets, broches, rings and necklaces.

A three-leaf clover of aquamarines, citrine, tourmaline and rosecut diamonds is delicately fashioned on a gold circle. A necklace of carved coral centers on an exquisite rose; and there's a matching bracelet. The coral pieces include pigeon blood (a deep red) earrings, angel skin (a pale pink); and rare Chinese coral.

There are very old pures made with emeralds or sapphires; gold bracelets engraved in the entwining vine theme; a number of pendant pieces, including a large, tear-drop opal.

An amusing conceit is the "bee ring," with the enameled bee removable for use as a pin. And a crossed sabres gold pin, with an opal at the center. (Milady's jewelry from $75)

Milady has little fun, such as hats, jackets and muffs. There's an unusual raccoon coat with the full skins worked like mink in a classic refter style. For fun, a mink vest blending white and black in chevrons.

A blazer in white broadtail, a full-length coat in charcoal, moleskin, wonderfully light in weight, generously cut in a double-breasted style with kid skin tie belt; and, in an apricot shade of persian lamb, a swinging coat with leather inverts inserted vertically.

All of the fur designs are created by Carol Allen and made to her order. Try a gift certificate.

A gold bracelet in flexible weave has a fine Universal Genevre watch under a hidden segment in the watch collection at H. R. Kalmus on Chambers Street ($385). Another version hides the watch under a diamond.

From Longines—a gold watch on a supple band with the brocade look ($360)—a beautiful piece; and a unique purse watch, appearing to be a pretty tube of lipstick, but pull the ends apart and the watch appears in the center. It can be worn on a chain, too. ($60)

And Party Shoes...

Nassau Shoe Tree has a special flair for glamorous footwear and is dazzling us all with its Christmas display. Thoughtfully, the heel heights range from the low heel styles for the hostess who will spend most of the evening on her feet, to tall, slim near-spikes for the gal with beautiful legs.

By Jacques Levine, two of many designs that caught our fancy: the traditional T-strap, open-toe sandal in gold with a medium heel, and an interesting closed-toe sandal in figured brocade, held by jeweled straps. And yet another, a slim black pump in silk, with open toe.

From other designers, a very graceful arc of silver or gold calfskin straps coming down across the foot to end at the open toe, and held by a glittering rhinestone; and low-vamp pumps in red suede accented by a crisscross of gold on the high, high heels.

Low-heeled silver (or gold) pumps for at-home, with a

News Of The THEATRES

"NUTCRACKER"

For Christmas, the Princeton Regional Ballet will perform the Nutcracker, a Christmas gift that has been a production of the ballet since 1918. The Nutcracker is presented complete in two acts by the Princeton Ballet Society and McCarter Theatre.

Three performances have been scheduled for this year. The ballet will be danced on Saturday, December 16 at 7:30 p.m., that afternoon in matinee performance at 2:30 p.m., and Sunday, December 17 at 3 p.m., all in McCarter Theatre.

Dancers from the Princeton Regional Ballet will perform, assisted by guest artists from the Princeton School of Ballet. The total company is almost 100.

As presented by the Regional Ballet, "The Nutcracker" incorporates not only the familiar Tchaikowsky divertissements from Act II, but the less familiar scenes of Act I and the Variations set in the Kingdom of the Snowflakes.

There has never been a single-minded seat for any performance of the Tchaikowsky ballet at McCarter throughout the nine-year history of its presentation.

LIKE PUPPETS?

Christmas Show at Hand, Forest Friends Puppet Productions will introduce a cookie-loving wolf, an ambitious little tree and even Santa (puppet-see) in an original Christmas show to be given at American Legion Post 76 headquarters, Rt. Washington Road in Princeton Junction.

The show will be given at 1, 2, 3 and 4. Saturday Santa is guaranteed to show up each time. Admission is 75 cents and reservations should be made in advance because seating is limited. Telephone numbers for reservations are 413-1942, 413-1776 and 586-0835.

The big tree, too small for the big Christmas tree market, is a consolation until adopted by the animals of the forest.

At Arts Festival, Dancers from the Princeton Regional Ballet Company's modern dance group were guest artists at the Bryn Mawr-Haverford Arts Festival to perform "Exultate," a modern dance set to the music of J. S. Bach. Choreographed by Ruth Langridge, dance mistress of the modern division of the Princeton Regional Ballet and a member of the Princeton Ballet Society faculty, "Exultate" was previously selected by audition for performance at the 1972 dance festival of the Northeast Regional Ballet Association and has also been taken to several college throughout New Jersey. Mrs. Langridge was the recipient of a grant for choreographing the dance from the New Jersey Council on the Arts.

Sherry Kaplan, Trenton, was the lead dancer with Diana Zisfel, Pamela Worley, Holly Friedman, Patricia McCullough and Dana Stager from Princeton; Lynne Dennis, Pennington; Gina Cipoll, Princeton Junction; and Christine Brady, Langhorne, Pennsylvania. DeNiece Gurney, East Brunswick, and Cam Leland, New York City, performed the pas de deux.

PUBLIC INVITED

GARDEN

Pygmalion (now playing). The great hit of about 35 years ago returns to give the younger generation a look see. Mary will judge it by the Broadway and Hollywood versions titled "My Fair Lady." A classic in the annals of film making, "Pygmalion" stars the late Leslie Howard and Wendy Hiller.

Olessi Wins Award

Frederick Olessi, playwright and film producer who lives in Lawrenceville, has won a special award for excellence at the invitational XI Golden Knight International Film Festival held in Valletta, Malta. The film is "Endymion," filmed at Stuart Country Day School, with Jack Conover as the color photographer. Actors in the film are Jon Lorrain, Frederic O'Brady, Giulia Pagano, Patricia Dunn-Cullen and Gerry Tracey. Painting by Dudley Morris, Stefan Martin, Winifred Finlay and Manuel Monedero are featured.

PLAYHOUSE

Fiddler on the Roof (now playing). The Broadway musical about Jewish life in Czarist Russian village is blown up high wide and handsome in the film version. Israeli actor Topol, with his rich singing voice, excels as Tevye, the milkman who copes with poverty with the aid of a generous sense of humor, a few bogus quotes from the Scriptures and many conversations with God.

Set in Anatevka, a Jewish village concerned with poverty and much dependence on tradition (without it, life would be as shaky as a fiddler on the roof), the musical focuses on Tevye and the changes that come into his world.

There are some lovely sequences, the celebration of the Sabbath, Tevye's lyric soliloquy about becoming a rich man, a candlelit wedding ceremony and even an imaginatively staged nightmare scene.

Of the cast, Topol is the most skilled. His Tevye is a rich, vital characterization, it's a joyous performance that carries the whole production.

CONCERT THIS SUNDAY

By University Orchestra. A concert for chamber orchestra, solo harp and solo piano will be presented by the Princeton University Chamber Orchestra on Sunday, at 3:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall.

The 24-member chamber group is composed of members of the Princeton University Orchestra and will have three conductors for this concert.

Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto No. 1" will be conducted by David Bach, a first year graduate student in composition of the Music Department; Debussy's "Dances Sacre et Profane" will be under the direction of Robert Moreen, second year graduate student of the Music Department, with Juli Miller, harp soloist.

Mrs. Miller won last year's Concerto Competition of the Orchestra and performed with them in May. The third piece on the program will be Ernst Bloch's "Concerto Grosso," conducted by Stefan Kozinski '75, with Keith Fisher '74, piano soloist.

Mr. Kozinski, a pianist and composer, performed Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 2 with the Orchestra last season. Mr. Kuderna, a graduate of the Juilliard School, is currently teaching piano at the University. The concert is open to the public, admission free.

FRIENDS PLAN CONCERT

Featuring Graduate Students. A concert for flute and harpsichord will be presented by the Friends of Music this Friday, at 8:30 p.m. in Woolworth Center.

The artists will be James Winn, Flute and Robert Moreen, Harpsichord, in a program of sonatas by C.P.E. Bach and Handel, Concert Royal No. 4 by F. Couperin, "Homage", a new work by Frank Brickie, a senior at Princeton University, "Paraphrases", a work by Mark Zuckerman, third year graduate student of the Music Department. In addition, the Telemann Cantata "Locke nur, Erde" will be performed, with the assistance of Ann Sease Monoyios, soprano.

Mr. Winn, a native of Louisville, Ky., is a graduate of Princeton University and is currently a second-year graduate student in English at Yale. He has played flute with the Princeton University Orchestra, the Norfolk Symphony and the Peninsula Symphony, and was the winner of several concerto competitions.

Robert Moreen, of West Hartford, Conn., is also a Princeton graduate and now a second-year graduate student in music at Princeton. He is the Director of Musica Alta, a Renaissance performance group, and Assistant Conductor of the Glee Club and Opera Theatre. The concert is open to the public, admission free.

MUSIC PROGRAM SET

At Westminster Tuesday. The Westminster Choir College Collegium Musicum will present a program of music by the German Renaissance composer Hans Leo Hassler on Tuesday, December 5, at 4:30 p.m. in the College's Bristol Chapel.

Organized this year, the Collegium is a chamber ensemble of 14 singers and assorted instruments which specializes in the performance of Renaissance music. It is conducted by Frances Poe, who joined the Westminster faculty this year as an assistant professor of music education.

The program of Hassler music will consist of the "Missa super O'xit Maria" and selections from "Lustgarten Neuer Teutscher Gesang." Intrada for brass and organ; Nun lasset an, for choir and instruments; Mein Gmuth ist mir verfahren, for tenor soloist and guitar; Tanzen und Springen, for choir and instruments; Als All Lust und Freud, for soprano soloist and organ; Das Herz tut mir aufspringen, for recorder concert; In Kuehlen Mayen, for choir; The Music for choir and organ; and Intrada. Organist for this performance will be Charles Frost, a senior organ major from Red Bank, New Jersey. The concert is open to the public without charge.

Joint Concert to Be Held Tuesday

The Princeton High School Choir, the Princeton University Freshmen Glee Club, members of the University and Community Orchestras, and the Collegium Musicum of Princeton will join together on Tuesday evening at 8:30 in a concert of music by Handel and Haydn. The program will be held in Alexander Hall and will be conducted by Joseph Kovacs and William Trego.

Making its second appearance in the Princeton area, the newly-formed Collegium Musicum, directed by Mr. Kovacs, will open the evening with Handel's Concerto Grosso in D minor, followed by Haydn's Concerto in C major scored for violin and string orchestra. In the Haydn, Mr. Kovacs will solo and conduct. The Collegium Musicum was highly acclaimed in its debut recently when it played for the Trinity-All Saints Music Series.

Missa Sancti Bernardi von Offida, known more commonly as the "Heiligmesse," will be the featured work for the second half of the concert. Composed by Joseph Haydn in 1796, the mass honors the Capuchin Monk, Bernardi, whose entire life was devoted to the sick and the poor. The performance of the "Heiligmesse" represents a most successful venture of school-town-gown cooperation in the combining of singers and instrumentalists from different constituencies. William Trego will be conducting the seven movement work.

Music lovers in the area are invited to attend the vintage concert.

NOTICE

Pianist William Cheadle, who was to have presented a recital at Westminster Choir College on December 5, has cancelled his performance to avoid a scheduling conflict with a Princeton community musical event recently announced for that same evening.

TUESDAY RECITAL SET

By Westminster Faculty Member, Baritone Robert Melver will present a faculty recital at Westminster Choir College on Tuesday, December 12, at 8 p.m. The recital, which is open to the public without charge, will be held in the Westminster Playhouse.

Mr. Melver's program will consist of works by Handel, Schubert, and Wolf; Ravel's "Don Quichotte," and "La Fanchette et le Feu" by Ravel.

Mr. Melver joined the Westminster faculty this year as an instructor of voice. He is completing work on a Doctor of Musical Arts degree at the University of Virginia, where he amorous mass of brilliant across the toe; spiky high pumps with an irregular double line of zilted edge scallops around the inner edge and a fascinating design with minuscule gold tassels dangling from gold leather inserts on the tall heels.

There are D'Orsay cut-outs under the arch and at the outer side of the foot on the Jack Rogers' satin pumps. The suede roses across the front can be removed. From Charles Jourdan of Paris, marvelous patents with platform soles that are gently rounded in black, for instance, or in arched tortoise shell with transparent high heels and the French touch a gold-banded ball on the toe.

We think you will be interested in the Jacques Levine platform clog high in heel and high in vamp way up there using three-toned suede, mulberry to gold to blue. And from Italy a beautiful black suede clog, again with the high vamp in front. Other Italian clogs, set a little lower, come nicely studded around the sole a deep blue, a brown in suede caught our fancy, also a burnished red brown calf.

For daywear, the ghille attractively designed by Caruso, four open criss-crosses tied with leather, a medium heel. Nassau Shoe Tree has a selection of evening bags, often with chain shoulder straps so that you can balance a drink and a canape very nicely at your Christmas parties.

shop, we saw a perfect container for holiday fruits—an open work wicker bowl curving out from a central base (under $31); and wicker trays with circulars for eight glasses ($2.95) and low sided wicker trays.

There are small boxes of watercolors, the paints contained in tubes ($1.25 a box), sets of five Shoji brushes ($2.50), nibbles of enchanting variety that appeal to all ages.

From Japan, interesting stoneware in little round dishes, cache pots, blue rimmed plates ($3.98); generous-sized casseroles (individual size); too. Earth tones, softly brushed with color.

In white porcelain, dinner plates, cups and saucers, oven-proof soufflé dishes (small sizes); tea pots, coffee pots—all in pure white to blend with whatever china you may have. Nice singer and creamer sets, too.

We liked the stoneware tea pots in both the curved and straight-sided designs ($5.50 & $5.95), and especially the small, blue-on-gray casseroles ($3.50 & $8.95).

Also for Christmas stocking—or as small fry party favors—surprise balls in lantern shapes (two for 49 cents); wooden puzzles, pretty fans, and small boxes containing four magnolia-shaped like snails or mushrooms or ladybugs for holding a note to the refrigerator door ($1.25).

At Country Mouse on Nassau Street near Thorne's and Davidson's; marvelous ornaments from Germany such as quaint wooden soldiers paired in a hoop ($3); a minuscule creeche ($1.39), and redbirds nesting in walnut shells. For a good luck symbol, clip a pair of mushrooms to the tree ($7.95 cents); and add such danglers as Santas inside transparent bubbles.

Gifts boxes of candles come with a colonial-design candle stick and ornamental wreath inside ($2); candle-making sets include a gift-box kit with the old-time hurricane glass. Other assests at C Mouse: scented soaps and lotions and an exhaustive collection of scented candles in every hue and tint.

For fun, mouse figures clutching skis or a hockey stick or a big enedle (about 6" high, $4); tiny mice most suitable dressed for every occasion and including Mrs. Santa ($1.25 to about $2).

Cadet Strebhen will receive full tuition, laboratory fees, a textbook allowance and a monthly subsistence allowance.

He submitted his application for the scholarship after enrollment in the AFROTC training program at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa., where he is a member of the class of 1975. Scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis to AFROTC students.

Upon graduation and completion of the AFROTC program, Cadet Strebhen will be commissioned an Air Force second lieutenant. He is a 1971 graduate of Lawrence High School where he was a member of the National Honor Society.

Howard C. Curtiss, Jr., 31 Southern Way, Professor of Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences at Princeton University, has been named "Outstanding Faculty Advisor" of the year by the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

The citation is given annually by the professional engineering association in "recognition of excellent service performed while faculty advisor to a student branch of AIAA."

Mr. Curtiss, a member of the Princeton Faculty since 1957, has spent some five years advising 25 to 30 engineering students each year on current technological and environmental problems as well as about opportunities for engineering graduates.

Adrian L. Pugin, a former Princeton resident, has been appointed vice president and secretary of The Equitable Life Mortgage and Realty Investors, a Boston-based real estate investment trust.

Mr. Pugin, a native of New York City, holds a B.S. in accounting from New York University. He is a Certified Public Accountant and a former deacon of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Princeton. The Pugin family has relocated in Needham, Mass.

Marine Pfc. Scott M. Cox, son of Mr. George C. Cox of Penn Lyle Road, Princeton Junction, has reported for duty at the Marine Barracks, Hunters Point Naval Shipyard, San Francisco, Calif.

Mrs. E. Theodore Bachman of 73 Philip Drive has been elected president of the Triniton Campus Ministry, a six-denomination organization that manages chaplaincy programs at Mercer County College, Rider College and Triniton State College. Mrs. Bachman represents the Lutheran Church in America.

Dr. Lyman Spitzer, Jr., 659 Lake Drive, Chairman of the Department of Astrophysical Sciences and Director of the Observatory at Princeton University, has been awarded the Exceptional Scientific Achievement Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In presenting the medal, Dr. James C. Fletcher, NASA Administrator, cited Dr. Spitzer for his "extensive contributions to optical space astronomy, establishment of a major space astronomy program at Princeton and for the outstanding success of the Copernicus satellite."

Dr. Spitzer is principal investigator for the Princeton University telescope aboard the Copernicus orbiting astronomical observatory satellite launched by NASA last August. The telescope is providing spectral readings in the ultraviolet portion of the electromagnetic spectrum which is not visible to ground-based observatories because of the obscuring effect of the Earth's atmosphere.

In 1954 Dr. Spitzer recognized the exciting contributions observations from above the Earth's atmosphere could make to astrophysics. When speaking before a Princeton Graduate Alumni group he said, "It is only a question of time before scientists develop a kind of space satellite, or celestial observatory, that will detect and analyze light from stars, gas clouds and galaxies while stationed hundreds of miles above the Earth's surface and circling the world once every few hours."

Three years later he began research on a lightweight mirror, which was a prelude to the design of the instrument now operating in the Copernicus satellite.

About the same time, under his leadership, Princeton initiated a program of high resolution astronomical photography with telescopes flown on the Stratoscope high altitude balloons. Stratoscope photographs of the Sun were some of the earliest exciting results in space astronomy. More recently, photographs of planets and galaxies were obtained from Stratoscope II flights.

Navy Seaman Recruit David C. Venner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Venner of 9 Edgehill Street, Lawrenceville, graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Orlando. A 1972 graduate of Lawrence High School, he is scheduled to report to Memphis, Tenn.

William V. Brooks is a senior member of the varsity basketball team at Franklin and Marshall. The Diplomats, members of the Middle Atlantic Conference, open an 18-game schedule on December 1 against Swarthmore at F&M's Maysor Center.

Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Brooks of 188 John St., Princeton, and a 1969 graduate of Princeton High School, he is expected to earn a starting position.

Photographer Ulli Steltzer of Vancouver, B.C., formerly of Princeton, is holding an exhibit of her recent work at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York. The exhibit, titled "The Unknown American, 1960-70," is located in the nave of the cathedral.

Al Hollander, program producer for TelePrompster Corporation Group Communications Division, has been ranked No. 1 senior tennis player by the Middle States Lawn Tennis Association. Mr. Hollander lives at 251 Edgertown Road with his wife, Nena, and their three children.

Former Princeton High School cross-country and track star Joe Bolster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bolster, Jr. of 124 Parkside Drive, was fifth man for the Denison University cross-country team this fall. The team was undefeated in dual meet competition and won both the Great Lakes Conference and Ohio Athletic championship meets. A sophomore English major at Denison, he competed in the NCAA College Division meet on November 11th at Wheaton, Illinois.

Sergeant Charles H. Pearson, son of Mrs. Ann Pearson of 74 Taylor Terrace, Hopewell, took part in a recent training exercise conducted by the 2nd Mobile Communications Group headquartered at Sembach AB, Germany.

A Special Seminar on Alpha Brain Wave Function and E.S.P., . . . Tuesday, Dec. 5 Wednesday, Dec. 6

In June, a national magazine, Newsweek, featured a special article on "Probing the Brain."

In this article discussion was focused on one of the most fantastic breakthroughs in modern psychology, a new science dealing with the conscious control of brain waves — the electrochemical activity of the brain. This new science is called Alpha Rhythms and concerns itself with the Alpha Rhythms of the brain. Noted researchers discussed how any individual can learn to function at lower levels, control their brain waves and revealed some of the phenomenal capabilities of man with self-control of his brain waves.

There are four principal brain wave rhythms: the Beta-wave, associated with the outer conscious levels, tensions, anxiety, physical activity, etc., the Alpha wave, associated with inner levels of mental activity: tranquility, inspiration, creativity, E.S.P., healing processes, memory learning, daydreaming and other phenomena; Theta-waves, which are related to deeper inner meditation, mental control of pain, and finally the Delta-waves, which are found in deep sleep or total unconsciousness.

Exploration of this almost unknown continent — the human brain — has been pioneered by a self-spoken parapsychologist, Joe Silva, of the Institute of Psychoreligion, of Laredo, Texas. This sincere dedicated scientist has been training people to function at different levels of brain waves for many years. Twenty-six years ago Silva and his associates began their research in Mind Control to see if it was possible to increase a person's I.Q. factor. . . . Amazingly, Silva discovered that not only could I.Q. be increased but a person trained in this technique could even learn to control certain areas of the Automatic Systems, heart beat, respiration, body temperature, etc. The implications of this breakthrough with regard to health and disease were staggering. With Mind Control Techniques it was found that in many cases people could banish pain, accelerate healing, eliminate insomnia, migraine headaches, as well as untold psychosomatic problems.

As research continued, an amazing discovery was made. Volunteer students were found to be surprisingly sensitive to the feelings and emotional attitudes of others. In other words they became more intuitive. In-depth studies revealed that anyone with a normal brain and sufficient training could develop so-called E.S.P. and clairvoyance. Alpha Brain Wave Functioning actually enables anyone to become a superior human being.

Classes Now In 100 Cities

Six years ago the directors of the Institute of Psychoreligion decided they were ready to release their findings to the general public, and offer the M.C. Training Program to everyone interested in developing a better mind.

Over 75,000 graduates
— Coast to Coast

Now there is no longer any doubt as to the great value of this astounding method of self-improvement.

Techniques have been improved and refined to the point that only a few hours of classroom instruction were all that was required to train a truly effective person.

Learn Specific Techniques

Once you have mastered Alpha Brain Wave Functioning, you have better control over anxiety and tension. You can banish insomnia and eliminate pain — unlearn bad habits such as smoking, over-eating, drinking, etc., and create good new ones anytime you desire. Your article and learning capacity will increase along with your vitality, energy, and self-confidence. You'll be happier and more successful in both the personal and business aspects of your life. What's more, Alpha Brain Wave techniques will make you able to help your loved ones in dramatic and effective ways regardless of their troubles. In short, you'll be a better student, parent, employee, or employer, become a truly effective problem-solver, a more dynamic person — whatever you'd like to be!

Silva Method of Mind Control
Alpha Brain Wave Functioning: Literally opens the door to the "Promised Land" — the kingdom within. Through simple, easily learned techniques you can have your heart's desires, become the person you want to be.

Results Guaranteed

It sounds almost too good to be true, yet the facts are that with Silva Mind Control "Almost Nothing Is Too Good To Be True." Learn how to use the key that unlocks the door to your innerconscious mind and release the abundant wealth, power and possibilities within.

I
YOU

Brought to you
By John Bernard

What are the odds that 2 football teams meeting 2 straight years would see those 2 games end with the same score and with the same team winning by the same margin and with the same man scoring the same number of winning points in both games? ... Did you know this once happened to Army and Navy ... Navy beat Army in 1910 and again in 1911 ... The score of each game was Navy 3, Army 0 ... And in each of those games, the scoring was done by the same man in the same way as Jack Dalton of Navy won each game by kicking a field goal for the only points in the games ... Who would ever predict that 2 straight games could be so similar.

In this history of big-time pro football, there's been only one player who led the league in rushing every year he played ... Know who it was? ... None other than Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White ... White played his first year in the National Football League in 1938 and led the league in rushing ... He left football in 1939 but came back for one more season in 1940, and again led the league in rushing! ... That was his last season so he quit with a perfect record.

What was the toughest schedule any football team ever played? ... How about this ... In 1889, Sewanee played 5 games in 5 different cities in 6 days against Texas, Texas A&M, Tulane, LSU and Mississippi ... And the amazing thing is, Sewanee won each of those games!

I bet you didn't know that insurance is our only business. It pays to deal with specialists.

Tigers End Football Season with 3 Victories and No Quarterback

While Princeton's inability to record more than three victories during the 1972 football season was largely expected, the slim contingent of die-hard fans watching the 22-15 defeat at the hands of Cornell Saturday left Palmer Stadium saddened by the fact that during the long season, the Tigers had shown little or no progress.

In the first two games, the defense contained Rutgers and Columbia attacks that were still seeking maturity, but as other opponents had time to perfect their plays and to watch the Tigers' deficiencies (particularly in the pea-green secondary), the Princeton defense was generally over-matched. It allowed 35 points apiece to Dartmouth and Col-

Tigers took quick 7-0 lead on his touchdown, but could not score again until final minute and lost, 22-15. Record of 3-5-1 marked first time they have won only three games since 1946.

game in the third period, Flynn threw an interception, and when another followed early in the final quarter, Dalzell returned.

The latter completed just over a third of his passes but had two picked off; Flynn was three for six but of the other three, two were intercepted. Time and again, Dalzell repeatedly overshot receivers who were in the clear.

Princeton scored the second time it came into possession, going 80 yards in a dozen plays. Judson Wagenseller went over from the 2 to climax the drive, and it appeared that Cornell's defense—statistically the poorest in the Ivy League—might be over-matched.

Gradually, however, the Ithacans' superior personnel took charge, scoring twice in the second quarter on drives of 33 and 64 yards and maintaining its superiority for the balance of the contest. Whereas Princeton had totaled 203 yards with the ball in the first half, it was pared to 101 in the second.

The Tigers had one last ditch shot at victory which eluded them. After Larry Ch-gate, two touchdowns in a constant downpour to Penn and three or more to both Yale and Cornell.

Predictably, the threadbare offense could not keep pace. Save for the fact that junior Jim Flynn had somewhat the more experience of three quarterbacks, no one was sure just prior to the Rutgers opener who would start at that position. Eight weeks later, after Flynn and sophomore Dave Mistretta had started three games apiece and junior Fred Dalzell two, Dalzell got the nod against Cornell. Not just to even matters up, but because three years after Scott MacBean led the Tigers to a first-place Ivy title, Princeton has never again come up with a take-charge quarterback.

Unfortunately for the Tigers, there is no logical reason to believe that they will have one by the fall of 1973. Neither Flynn nor Dalzell goes into his final year with adequate passing ability, and Mistretta, who piloted the team to consecutive triumphs over Brown and Harvard, rode the bench Saturday because he has been markedly less effective in passing than they are.

When the Class of 1976 came to Princeton last September, 18 quarterbacks were among the 80 or more players who reported for football practice. Before the season began, five were retained at this position but none could make a winning team out of the freshmen, who lost four of their six games to opposition that was on balance not particularly impressive.

Tigers Score First. Dalzell got the Tigers all their points Saturday, but in between the first TD midway through the opening period—and the last, when it was too late—he lost his touch so completely that Flynn replaced him. Two plays after he came into the

A Look at 1973 Ivy Race: Cornell Could Do It

Take a look at what much of the rest of the Ivy League has coming back for the 1973 football season, and you get a good idea of why Princeton is unlikely to move upward very quickly. Of the eight teams, only Columbia and possibly Yale are long range bets to face problems in replacing what they will lose.

Dartmouth, of course, doesn't hope to do better merely just as well. The Green will graduate a number of top players including quarterback Steve Stetson but there is invariably enough good material at Hanover to tab this entry as the team to beat.

If anyone does the pick here is Cornell. The Ithacans will lose most of their offensive line but all of their top backs return, their defensive unit will remain almost intact and their freshmen were 6 and 0. Princeton must face this imposing array in the third game of the season at Ithaca.

The 1972 runner up, Yale may not finish that high next fall. A gifted group of seniors paced by running back Dick Jauman will graduate. The Elis' new crop of sophomores are among the Ivy League's weakest.

Penn figures to remain in first division and to have an other title contender but Harry Gamble like Jake McCandless, a erates three quarterbacks, and that is not a sign of strength. The Penn freshmen were about average.

Harvard despite a perennial wealth of impressively material rarely appears able to harness it. The Crimson sputters on offense and requires numerous points to offset persistent defensive problems. A big freshman team was better than average but short of excellence.

Columbia, loaded with promising seniors and the chance in some quarters to win the 1972 Ivy title, was the league's biggest disappointment, along with Harvard. Losing as much as it does and unable to count on much sophomore material, the Light Blue appears destined to return to the depths it knows so well.

Brown gets a new coach (Len Jardine resigned two weeks before the season ended) and, like Cornell, an unbeaten freshman team. The combination is unlikely to create major waves in its first season, but the Bruins may soon shake their accustomed role of league door mat.

Princeton's problems remain numerous (1) because of the lack of an established quarterback and (2) because there is no reason to believe now that its defense will be much better next year. The back will be visibly bolstered by the anticipated return of Walt Snickenberger but the line behind which he and other backs will operate must be largely rebuilt. It will take some doing for the Tigers to dislodge any two of the teams that finished above them so that a first division berth can become a reality.

was hooked just before he ran out of bounds.

Cornell, apparently recovered but Referee Henry Minder said he had mistakenly blown his whistle while Wagonseller had possession. Cornell then kicked off a second time.

Other decisions went against the Tigers, including a penalty for pass interference that involved shoving a receiver who was out of bounds at the time. The 36 yards gained from that penalty were a major factor in Cornell's go-ahead touch down. Typically, however, McCandless refused to complain, saying that "officiating mistakes generally even up."

So the 1973 season ran its course, falling well short of total failure through the early season successes against Rutgers and Columbia, and the major upset of Harvard, which for some inexplicable reason is the one opponent of stature that Princeton has been able to dominate since its fortunes have been ebbing in the present decade. The Tigers have lost three straight to Cornell and Dartmouth, and six in a row to Yale teams of varying ability but they are not happy at Cambridge because Tiger eleven of mediocre stature have won back to back victories over Harvard during the past two seasons.

The decade of the '70, 100 in net, steadily declines, for once to the Orange and Black, each year has a one less victory. It was five in 1960, four in 1961, three in 1962, two in 1963, one in 1964, and zero in 1965. The climb back up takes a year, but it is a climb back up.

FRESHMEN WIN, TOO

End With 5-3 Record. While the Princeton High School football team was grabbing the lion's share of the news and the sophomore team was posting an undefeated record, the 1973 freshmen were better. A 3-5 record last year before a 5-1 mark.

The squad, coached by Mike Anderson and Pat D'Amico, a five of its home games, lost all three away contests. The most surprising win, a 16-0 victory over Trenton, was a 28-0 spanking of Trenton 162 and a 12-0 defeat of Lawrenceville.

The starting backfield consisted of quarterback Timmy Thomas, a fine point half

PHS (Quiet, Please) May Be Good in Basketball

For the first time in five years, the Princeton High School basketball team will start with a new coach—and no rosy predictions.

Each year for the past five seasons, former coach Larry Ivan would announce at the start that this was going to be the year. This was going to be the season the Little Tigers mastered his deliberate, patterned style offense and in tricate defensive sets.

It never happened. Under Ivan, a former college and professional player and outstanding tactician of the game, the Little Tigers failed to produce a single winning season. Whatever the reasons may have been, Ivan was not able to do the thing he wanted perhaps too desperately: bring basketball respectability back to Princeton High.

Midway through the last season, Ivan threw in the towel. His record in the four and one-half campaigns he coached: 21 wins, 83 losses.

The Conservative Approach. His successor was Marvin Trotman who guided the Blue and White to a 5-7 record the remainder of the season. Like Ivan, Trotman is a fine player in his own right. Many feel that Trotman, who played for the Little Tigers in the early 1950s, is the finest athlete ever to perform on the court for the Blue and White.

Unlike Ivan, Trotman in his first full year as head coach is making no predictions. "I'm hopeful we'll have a good season," Trotman allowed. "By good, I mean continually trailing 500 ball. Anything above 500 that'll be great."

"I'm not saying there will be any dramatic changes over last year," Trotman continued. "All I can promise is that we'll be in every ball game. It's unfair to put pressure on the kids by making predictions. If you don't live up to them, you're disappointed. Everyone is frustrated and hurts to press too hard."

Asked if he planned to make any changes from last year, Trotman replied simply, "Nothing different, just play basketball."

Basically Same Team. Despite his attempt to downplay the Little Tigers' prospects, signs abound that PHS is headed for a good season. Formerly, Trotman will welcome back basically the same team. Only two were lost through graduation: Kent Bain and Leon Gibson.

Returning are Tony Bailey, Leon Robinson, Larry Miller, Dane Black and Gil Spencer from last year's varsity and Juniors Bobby King and Craig

PHS BASKETBALL CAPTAINS: Tony Bailey (left) and Leon Robinson are co-captains of the PHS basketball team for the 1972-73 season. Each is starting his third year on the Little Tiger varsity.

Robinson. Also trying to nail the rougher the opponent, down a put on the team are the better the ball player."

Senior Mike Coda, Greg Kline, and Hawk Sweeney and Mark Yates, 6-4, has been impressive on the court in the early going campaign.

Larry Copper, a 6-0 trim forward from Baltimore and a junior, vying for a position, as are Dave Riddle, Jim Boar, Steve Towns and Randy Bullock. Bullock, a sophomore, and headed for a promising man in man certain future. Tardom.

Between now and the open tug game here next Friday afternoon with Brick Town to ship, Trotman will send his squad in scrimmages against Allentown, Trenton High School, East Brunswick and Princeton Day School. Although PHS continues to play Group 4 schools such as Livingston and St. Albans, it is scheduled as a Group 3 School and will compete in the division of it makes the NJSIAA post season tournament.

The 24 game schedule including two in the Summit Christian Tournament involves two games with new comer Camden, long ranked as one of the powers of southern New Jersey, and such top line competition as Peddie, Lawrenceville, Ewing and Hamilton.

"Yes, it's a much tougher schedule," agreed Trotman. "But it's good for the kid."

perhaps the best on the team. When he is on, he is capable of breaking open any contest. Larry Miller and Gil Spencer are probable starters, although Trotman said that he preferred not to think in terms of a "starting five". "Anybody can start," he said.

"I think we have the personnel to have a good running team," he said. "And for a change we have pretty good height." Trotman said that he could put a front line on the court averaging 6-3 if he wanted to.

Another plus with this year's team is the coaching help Trotman will receive. Serving as his assistant will be newcomer Mike Mayo, who will handle the jayvees. Mayo, an English teacher at PHS, was a member of the Princeton University basketball team in 1968 and '69. Bill Humes will return as freshman coach.

Also helping out is John Bailey, an older brother of Tony. Bailey, a product of South Brunswick High School and Wagner College, was drafted out of school as a hardship and has just returned from pro camp with the Virginia Squires.

Experience, height, coaching the pieces are all there, just waiting for Trotman to put them together.

work to memorize all the plays and get the timing down but the kids picked it up pretty well," said Anderson.

Anderson added that there were a lot of promising kids on the team that will be a help to the football program at the school. "Thomas not only was a good passer but an excellent runner. He has a fine football future ahead of him," said Anderson.

The only drawback, he added, is that several of these fine freshman prospects are residents of West Windsor. They will be lost next year when West Windsor admits freshmen and sophomores to its new high school.

Tiger Skaters Hopeful This May Be Their Year

Spring is still more than three months away, but the perennial optimism is sprouting again in Baker Rink. Every fall, Princeton gathers its skaters together with the vow that they will move out of the wilderness that has engulfed them for the past five seasons, but by March . . .

Maybe, in terms of bygone days in Flatbush, "this is next year." Coach Bill Quackenbush has an unusually young team (only one senior on the first three lines and none among the top six defensemen), but if the hustle and drive that has been missing in the past returns, the number of victories could mount substantially.

In the past two seasons, there have been only six: last winter the record was 5-18 and the year before, the Tigers scraped bottom with a lone triumph in 23 starts. Not since the first year Quackenbush came to replace John Wilson (now coaching the Detroit Red Wings) has a Princeton team topped the tell tale .500 mark. In 1967-'68, Princeton was 13-10-1.

"This can be a good Princeton team," Quackenbush says, "because it has some fine skaters, shooters and stick handlers. If we get off on the right foot, which is so important, we can put ourselves back into the Ivy League picture."

Answer Will Come Early. The December schedule will give a good line on the Tigers' chances for improvement. They have already trimmed a promising freshman team, 8-2, whereas last year, the varsity had to come from behind to gain a 4 all tie, Thursday night at 8, they will have another chance to show improvement, when they play the St. Nicks, to whom they lost last season, 5-3.

The games that count begin Saturday a good Providence rivalry will be in Baker Rink at 2, Monday night at 9, a newcomer to the Princeton schedule, St. Anselms, will be here, with a weekend series in Boston following against Northeastern and B.U.

Army, which Princeton ought to beat every year but doesn't is on the schedule at West Point on December 13, with New Hampshire, a rugged opponent, coming here two days later in the final home contest this year. Of these teams, only Boston University has marked by superior personnel to Princeton, and the Orange and Black has a good shot at playing 300 hockey or better in its first month.

There are sophomores on each of the first three lines Quackenbush will use. One will be centered by sophomore Brad Richards with classmate Corky Powers on one wing and junior Brian McIntosh at the other.

Another line has Mark Stuckey, who had a fine year as a freshman, centering for junior Will Smart and sophomore Mike Bascom. Stuckey's brother and father both played here before him.

Senior Paul McNamara and sophomore Steve Weiner form a third line with junior Clay Kyle, while cousins Bob and Wayne Bezan, who did not play last season, and Scott Dunslop form an all senior unit to give Princeton more depth than it has known in many seasons.

There are also three full fledged defensive pairs: junior Pete McCann and sophomore Jim Damberger; junior Al Sturver and sophomore Stan Hutton; junior Ogden Hummel and sophomore Ethan Warren. Captain Ed Swift (he'll be co-captain with Walt Snickenger, last year's high-scoring forward, if the latter returns to college in February) will alternate in the goal with junior Phil Robinson. Both can be well above average when they perform at their best.

HOCKEY CLUB FORMED

For High School Skaters. Eight weeks ago there were 11 Princeton High School players in search of a team. Now they have one. The Mercer Hockey Club was made possible by a lot of desire and cooperation.

When Norman Van Arsdale, Princeton High School Athletic Director, reluctantly discontinued hockey at the High School he was confident that his skaters would be able to play for the Mercer County Squad who had a team last year. However, it turned out that the Mercer County team was a name and two coaches in search of players.

The coaches, Dave Morrow and Gordie Jamieson, who come from the Kendall Park area were unaware of the Princeton High School situation. Their organizational man had moved to Florida and the coaches were hesitant to start a club with only a handful of boys left over from last year.

The first contact between the two groups turned up a lot of enthusiasm and skepticism. Available ice time was going fast and no one really knew how many boys were available. But it was decided to try to ice a team.

The High School Athletic Department supplied names of remaining varsity players, and the teams they played last year. The YMCA provided a room for the organizational meeting, to which a dozen or so parents came to offer help and support. At that meeting it was decided to have a try-out night.

Sam Hyatt, at the University, suggested some Baker Rink schedules so that the try-out could be held early in November. On November 2, 25 boys showed up for the try-out, and by the end of the evening, the coaches decided they had a team.

Schoolboy Hockey Set

Lawrenceville School's annual Invitation Hockey Tournament, which this year will mark its first quarter century, is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, December 15 and 16. Play will take place in Baker and Lavinio rinks.

Defending champion Andover, which last year won its fifth title, heads the field of eight entries. The lone Canadian team will be University of Toronto School, which Andover blanked in the final round, 8 to 0.

Other entries here for the tournament include Belmont H. School, Kinnelon Union School, Tappan High School, and the host, Lawrenceville School.

VILLANOVA NEXT

For Princeton Quintet. Nothing about the early part of the schedule for Princeton's basketball team is easy, but nothing about that is new. The Tigers have long booked some of the toughest teams on the eastern seaboard in preparation for their Ivy League campaigns.

Following this Wednesday's opener in Jadwin Gym against Penn State, Coach Pete Carril will lead his charges to the most familiar battleground on which they play other than Jadwin. Philadelphia's Palestra will provide the setting for Saturday night's game against Villanova.

The Wildcats are always hard to beat on what amounts to their home court, and are always one of the better eastern independents. Last season in Jadwin Gym, they were an 82-68 victim of a Tiger quintet which featured Brian Taylor, but it will be a distinct upset if Princeton can repeat at Philadelphia without him.

Next Thursday will mark very much of a first in intercollegiate competition for the Tigers: Rutgers will start three freshmen in the game scheduled between the two universities at Madison Square Garden. All of them are good enough to have won their assignments from returning lettermen, who were on the Scarlet quintet which finished last season at 14-11. Princeton won here, 99 to 68.

Davidson, which upset the Orange and Black in Jadwin last January, 81 to 74, will come here again on Saturday, December 9, with Virginia adding to the southern atmosphere with a trip to Princeton the following Tuesday, December 12. The Marshall (W.Va.) and Quaker City tournaments follow, the Ivy openers against Harvard and Dartmouth are away, and the Orange and Black does not play here again until mid-January. (See pages 46-47 for complete schedule.)

Two seniors (Captain Ted Manakas and Jim Sullivan in the backcourt), junior Andy Rimol at center, junior John Berger at one forward berth and Jim Flores, a 6-8 sophomore, at the other figures to see most of the action for Princeton this winter, although Bill Kapler, who sat out last year with a back injury, will spell both Rimol and either Berger or Flores. Depending on how Flores fits into the lineup, junior Joe Vavricka will be used when the recovery from the thigh muscle injury that has slowed him in practice.

Like Rutgers, Princeton has a freshman in Armand Hill it could use if the Ivy League saw fit to make them eligible for varsity action. It did not, for reasons that are sound enough, but as the season progresses in this and other sports, freshmen on other teams will contribute to Ivy defeats.

PAA SWIMMERS COMPETE
In Peddle Swim Event. Fifty young swimmers from the Princeton Aquatic Association competed in a major AAU swimming meet last weekend at Peddle School in Hightstown.

One PAA swimmer, Ann Healy, came home with a gold medal for winning the 50 yard breaststroke race for girls 10 and under. Linda Tarbox took fifth place in the 50 yard breaststroke race for girls 8 and under.

"The kids did fine as a group for a club that's only two months old," said Bill Farley, the head coach of PAA. Farley is also the varsity swimming coach for Princeton University.

"The meet pointed up for us what we still need: a lot more swimming, and a lot more work on starts and turns," he continued. "It will be a year before even our best kids will be doing much against the competition. Even the youngest ones were swimming against other kids who have been competing in meets like this for 3 or 4 years. But they worked hard, and did fine."

CAPTAIN AND COACH: Ted Manakas, who directs the Princeton basketball team from his position at guard, is this year's captain. Coach Pete Carril is starting his sixth season.

The meet was held in the new pool in Peddle's recently completed athletic center. Over 2200 entries from 33 swim clubs in New Jersey, Delaware, and Pennsylvania made the meet one of the largest of the new swimming season in the area.

Other swimmers from the Princeton Aquatic Association, which began workouts in Dillon Pool in October, were: Diana Dorin, Susan Mooney, Mary McGregor, Kirsten Olson, Terry Wen, Chris Eden, Claire Lynch, Lisa Payton, Jill McClelland, Keith Spalding, Bill Roessel, Dorothy Dyson, Joan Richards, Claudia LaPiazza, Premi Shandra, Nellie Hoffman, Debbie Kane, Kris Clark, Gipper Kane, Andy Ellis and Rich Picard.

Also, Mario Smeriglio, Kelly Hector, Kathie Wadsworth, Lisa Freund, Judy Wilson, Shirley Hearne, Gabby Dorin, Chip Zahner, Jonathan Helitzer, Maureen Kane, Brook Smith, Michael Wolfson, Norman Calloway, Lisa Clark, Jean Rosenbluth, Brian Eden, Chris Price and Judy Wolfson.

SAILORS REWARDED

With Fine Breeze Sundry. The Intrepid Sunfish skippers of the Carnegie Sailing Club have not allowed bad weather to dim their sailing enthusiasm this fall, and their persistence finally paid off with a fine day last Sunday for the races.

A warming trend melted a thin sheet of ice on the lake, and fresh breezes laced with challenging gusts brought out 16 boats to compete as the season came down to the wire with close contests for second and fifth places in the fall series.

Tad LaFountain finished first for the day, followed by Brewster Young and Walt Gibson. The previous week 10 boats sailed in a steady rain and a elm broken only by occasional puffs of a faint breeze. On that occasion Bob Holzman came in first, trailed closely by Dick Hill in second and Tad LaFountain in third.

Holzman and LaFountain are still contending for second place in the fall series, behind Ed Metcalf in first, and Tom Huntington is pushing Dick Hill hard for fifth place behind Walt Gibson in fourth. Both the second and fifth finishers will be decided in the last day of sailing next Sunday.

INFLATABLE NOW OPEN

For Community Tennis. The Community Park School Inflatable is now being used for winter indoor tennis by the Princeton Community Tennis Program. In addition to instruction for adults and juniors, the two courts are available for rental on weekday evenings plus Saturday and Sunday late afternoons and evenings.

Reservations for the season will insure players of a court each week at a specified time. "Open Court Time" can also be obtained on a spot basis. This means that players may pay for a one and a half hour session whenever the facilities are not being used by classes or season patrons. Those interested in details should call 924-4343.

Registrations for lessons, as well as court time, are being accepted at the Program's headquarters on 71 University Place, or by phone (924-4343). Reservation for "spot time" should be made 48 hours in advance. However, anyone interested in last minute play should check the office for openings and cancellations.

GRADUATION HELD

By Dog Training Club. The Princeton Dog Training Club has held its graduation exercises with 32 dogs competing for trophies in both the beginners and intermediate classes.

Dee Gee, a German Shepherd owned by Mrs. John

Rhodes, 166 Russell Road, captured first place in the beginners class. Second place went to Buckwheat, a mixed breed, owned by Jeanie Winegar, 146 Gallup Road, third place to Pimm's No. 1 Cup, a mixed breed belonging to Pamela Frothingham, Cherry Valley Road and fourth to Morgan, a Dalmatian, owned by Mrs. Helen Lee of Cranbury. The class was judged by Mrs. Marilyn Horn.

In the intermediate class, Drew Ann Rosenberg, 253 Wendover Drive, finished first with her Weimaraner, Sweet Duchess of Wendover. Shep Caesar, a German Shepherd, belonging to Laurence Berko, Coppermine Road, took second. Third was a Shetland Sheepdog, Lassie, owned by Margaret Van Horn, 16 Gulick Road; and fourth, a Pekingese, Pam, owned by Eleanor Kierman, Robbinsville. Judge was Mrs. Carrie Bremer. The Club has been holding classes in Princeton for two decades, teaching more than 2,000 dogs over the years. Training sessions, consisting of 10 one-hour evening classes, are conducted fall, winter and spring by members of the non-profit club. Winter classes will be January 4. For further information call Mrs. Noreen Parsons, training secretary at 586-4734.

Both husband and wife should always sign the contract when selling their house; otherwise the contract may not prove legal. If you are selling a house, insist on this precaution. In most states a contract is invalid unless both have signed. If you are buying from a corporation, make sure the contract bears an authorized signature. It is better to make the sale slowly and completely legal than to have to return to it later to correct some mistake—or worse to lose because of some mistake you've made!
